CLOSE beside the winding Cedar's
Sloping banks of green,
Spreads thy campus, Alma Mater,
Fairest ever seen.
Swell the chorus; let it echo
Over hill and vale;
Hail to thee, our loving mother,
M.S.C. all hail.

DEDICATED TO THE Alma Mater

WHEN voices sing forth its verses in assemblies, when bands swell its chords before a hushed stadium, when the chimes at Beaumont ring out its melody in late afternoon, hearts thrill with loyalty, with reverence, with pride. For within its words is the spirit of all that is dear to Spartans of Michigan State; and it is because of the deeper significance that this book is so dedicated.

FOREWO

R D

THE staff members of the 1936 Wolverine have built this volume with the desire that it may appeal to two types of readers. We hope you who know the college—its life and its traditions—may find in the following pages something that will recall happy experiences and will arouse pleasant memories. For you who are unfamiliar with Michigan State College, we hope you may discover in this book something of the true spirit and the beauty of the campus which will make you desire to know it better. If our efforts have accomplished these objectives in some degree our work has been worthwhile.

C O

SCENICS are a vital part of any year book, and at Michigan State where a beautiful campus offers so much material, only the problem of selecting wisely confronts the photographer. We have tried to offer typical rather than unusual scenes, and most of them are studies which include student life. The sections of classes include shots of the class parties, an innovation of this year's staff. We have grouped the faculty section and the student executive groups in this division, and since faculty, students and campus form the nucleus of any school, the first part of this volume is called College.

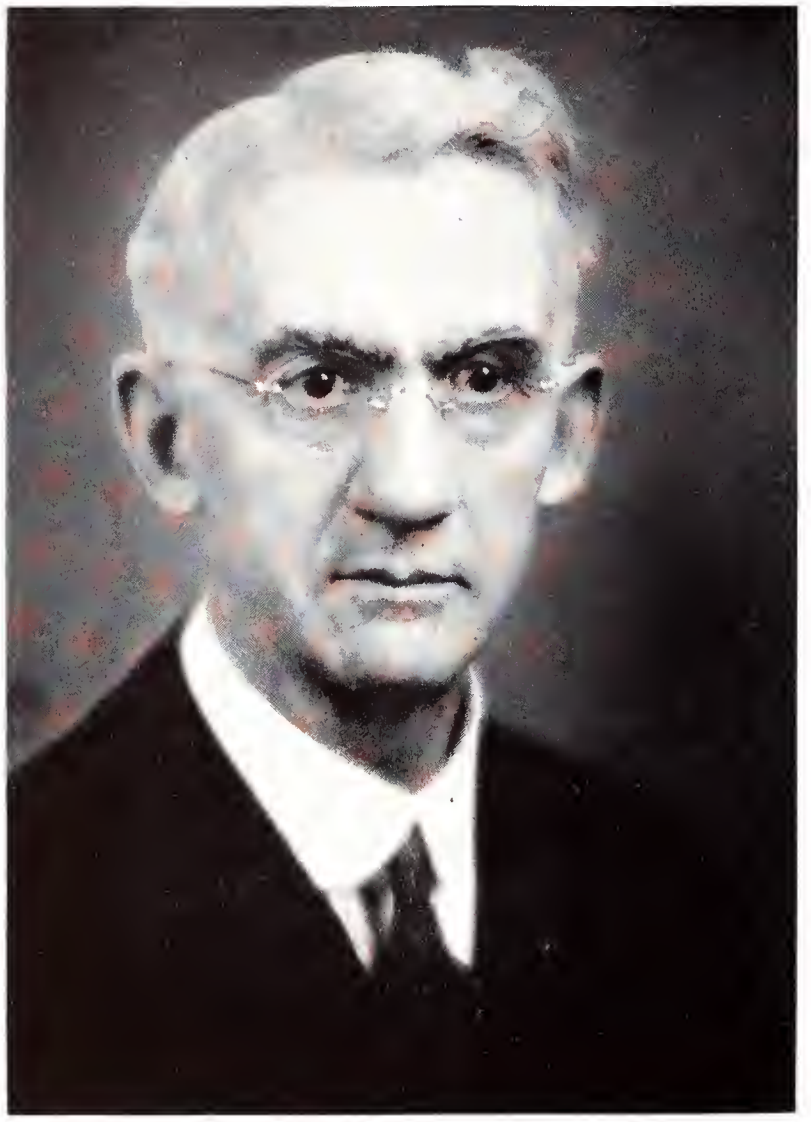
FACULTY



THE college year of 1935-36 began with an unprecedented increase in student enrollment which brought the total number of four-year and graduate students to four thousand and five—an increase of twelve hundred and forty-five over enrollment at the same time two years ago. While a material increase in State appropriations by the 1935 Legislature has restored in part the reductions of the past several years, the administration is still confronted with the difficult task of conducting the College on a greatly decreased income. Yet with a continuance of the present fine cooperative spirit among the students and staff, there is no doubt that the situation can be met.

The graduates of this year are entering upon their careers with prospects a great deal brighter than those of the past several graduating classes. I know that I express the sincere good wishes of the faculty and of those students remaining on campus in hoping that the future may be realized for them in all its brightest aspects.

ROBERT S. SHAW
President of Michigan State College

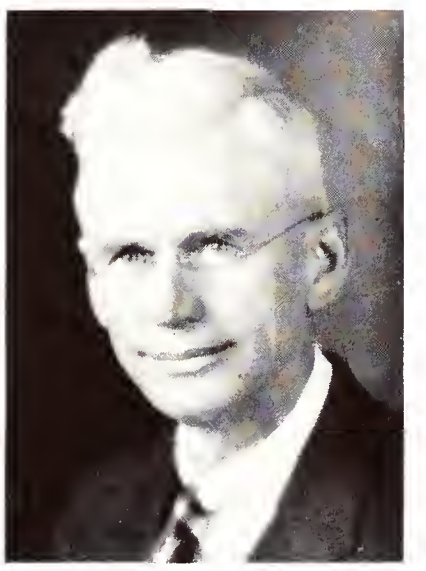
DEANS AND DIVISION HEADS

ERNST A. BESSEY, Dean of Graduate School, came to Michigan State College as Professor of Botany in 1911. He served in the capacity of Acting Dean of Applied Science from 1927-30, and was appointed Dean of Graduate Students in 1930.

ERNEST L. ANTHONY, Dean of Agriculture, came to Michigan State College as Professor and Head of the Dairy Husbandry Department in 1928. He became Acting Dean of Agriculture in 1932, and was appointed Dean in 1933.

HENRY B. DIRKS, Dean of Engineering, a graduate of the University of Illinois, and formerly Assistant Professor at Princeton, came to Michigan State College as Professor of Mechanical Engineering in 1919. He was appointed Dean in 1931.

MARIE DYE, Dean of Home Economics, came to Michigan State College from the University of Chicago in 1922, became Assistant Professor in 1923, Professor of Nutrition and Acting Dean in 1929, and was appointed Dean in 1930.



WARD GILTNER, Dean of Veterinary Medicine, came to Michigan State College as Research Assistant in the Experiment Station in 1905. He became Acting Professor of Bacteriology in 1912, and was appointed Dean of Veterinary Medicine in 1923.

RALPH C. HUSTON, Dean of Applied Science, came to Michigan State College as Assistant Professor of Chemistry in 1911. He was appointed Associate Professor of Chemistry in 1915, and Professor of Organic and Bio-chemistry in 1925, and Dean in 1930.

LLOYD C. EMMONS, Dean of Liberal Arts, came to Michigan State College as Instructor in Mathematics in 1909. Formerly Research Professor of Institutional Administration, he became Acting Dean in 1934, and was appointed Dean in 1935.

ELIZABETH W. CONRAD, Dean of Women, formerly acted in the same capacity at Ohio State. She came to Michigan State College in 1928 as Instructor in French, and at this time was appointed to the office of Dean of Women.

FRED T. MITCHELL, Dean of Men, formerly Professor at Peabody Teachers College, came to Michigan State College as Associate Professor of Education in 1931. In 1935 he was appointed to fill the newly created office of Dean of Men.

IN MEMORIAM

ALBERT H. NELSON

Albert H. Nelson, head of the Department of Publications, professor of Journalism and adviser for student publications, died October 18, 1935. For sixteen years he served Michigan State College in various capacities. His enthusiasm and perspicacity were ever a source of encouragement to his faculty and student associates.

RUTH YOUNG JOHNSTON

Miss Johnston, assistant professor of history, died July 5, 1935. She was actively interested in student and campus enterprises, which won for her many friends.

HARRY S. REED

Professor Reed was appointed associate professor of the newly founded Chemical Engineering Department in 1918. He became professor and head of the department in 1931. He died December 13, 1935.

STUDENT COUNCIL

THE Student Council is an elective men's organization which has jurisdiction over all student activities. The Council has the power to legislate concerning general student affairs and investigate and make recommendations on all matters between the students and the college. In addition, the Council acts as intermediary between the students and the faculty, bringing closer cooperation among the several groups. Among its activities the group arranges and sponsors all student election, controls and investigates the activities of campus honoraries, and acts on all matters pertaining to the student body.

The Council is a member of the National Student Federation of America and was represented at the National Convention this year by James Lewis and Richard Colina. Both men brought back new ideas which have proven very beneficial.

Dr. F. T. Mitchell, Dean of Men at M.S.C., acted as faculty adviser for the Council during the year, and his counsel and advice was a constant source of benefit throughout. Dr. Mitchell well understands the problems confronting such an organization, and the appointment of the popular Dean as adviser did much to aid the Council in its undertaking.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENT COUNCIL

THE Associated Women Student Council, popularly designated as A.W.S., is the official governing body of women students on the Michigan State campus. Functioning as a unified body for all women interests, it has come to play an important part in the regulating and sponsoring of co-ed activities. The council is composed of two parts: the Greater Council, and the Judiciary Board. The Greater Council formulates and furthers policies and plans of social and general interest. This group considers projects presented by the various organizations desiring co-operation. It is the duty of the Judiciary Board to interpret A.W.S. rules and settle disciplinary matters.

The biggest project undertaken by A.W.S. this year is the establishment of a detailed filing system of the extra-curricular activities of each girl on campus. Here the quality of work done is listed for future reference in making appointments. Besides sponsoring a highly successful co-ed carnival at which the Freshman girls were introduced to the activities on campus, A.W.S. has continued its Freshman Lecture system during fall and spring terms. In recent years women students have come to regard A.W.S. less as a disciplinary board, and are now using it as a means for expression of creative ideas.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

THE Interfraternity Council is an organization composed of representatives from each of the social fraternities on campus. Its membership is limited to those fraternities that are recognized by the faculty committee of the college. Fraternities to be eligible must have been in existence for at least two years previous to application for membership.

The Council is the final authority upon all matters of difference which may arise among the various fraternities. In addition, it works with the faculty committee in the promotion of general harmony and co-operation between the faculty and fraternity men.

This year the Council, with the aid of Dean Conrad and Dean Mitchell, compiled a list of patrons who are available for campus parties.

The Council sponsors many athletic tournaments held in conjunction with the college Athletic Department. Awards are made in each individual meet or tournament and a final award made to the fraternity standing highest in winning percentage of all tournaments.

Beginning this year, the Council will award a plaque to the fraternity showing the greatest improvement in its scholastic average over the preceding year. The Council also offers a trophy as a prize for the best decorated fraternity house during the annual homecoming activities in the fall.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

THE Panhellenic Council, a member of the National Panhellenic Congress, is the governing body of the women's fraternal organizations on the Michigan State campus. Sororities, to be eligible for membership, must be recognized by the faculty committee of the college.

Each sorority on campus is represented in the monthly meetings by two delegates, a Senior and a Junior. The purpose of the organization is to establish an interfraternity compact between all the member chapters, and to regulate issues of interest to the various groups. All rules for rushing, ribboning and pledging are dictated by Panhellenic. This year the Panhellenic Council appointed an alumnae rushing committee consisting of two non-campus sorority members and one campus member.

The Panhellenic Banquet was held in the Union ballroom on December 6, at which time a scholarship cup was awarded to the sorority maintaining the highest scholastic average. Sigma Kappa was awarded the cup for the fifth consecutive year. Alpha Gamma Delta was awarded the cup for the best Homecoming decorations. The Panhellenic Ball was held in the Union ballroom on May 28.

COMPRISING the student leaders of undergraduate publications, their faculty adviser, and the presidents of the student governing bodies, the Board passes judgment on the policies of the Michigan State News and Wolverine.

Since the editors are under no censorship and the business managers are limited by budgets, its main function is the approval annually of candidates nominated to succeed the present editors and business managers in office.

THE main function of the Student Lecture Course Board is to select the speakers for the student lecture series and to make all plans for the appearance of these lecturers. The student members are elected in their Junior year and serve for two years, but due to Junior vacancies on the Board last year, elections were held this fall when Marion Dondero and Lisle Watterson were elected to complete the term. Professors C. P. Halligan and W. W. Johnston represent the faculty and act as advisers.

This year the Student Lecture Course Board was extremely fortunate in bringing to East Lansing such famous world personalities as Frances Perkins, Richard Halliburton, John Mason Brown and Frank Lloyd Wright. The student response to this lecture series has been extremely gratifying. A record was established at the Richard Halliburton lecture when the auditorium of the People's Church was filled to capacity for both of the two lectures necessary to accommodate the approximately thirty-five hundred people who attended.

DURING the past year several innovations have been made at the Union. The building is now under the direction of college authorities, and many improvements, such as new furniture, a redecorated ballroom, and the addition of a girls dormitory, have been made. New members of the Union Board include the Deans of both men and women, the Dean of Home Economics, and the Secretary of the College. The major purpose of the Union still remains the same, that of service to the college students and alumni by sponsoring an extensive social program for the convenience and enjoyment of the student body.

TO break the monotony of the traditional activities section with its countless pages of organizations, clubs and honoraries was difficult and perhaps unsuccessful. When at all possible, however, we placed the honoraries with the activities to which they related. Therefore you will find the music honoraries with the music organizations, the forensic honorary in the section on debate, and so on. This policy was followed in the military section as well, and since State's band is a military organization it has been included in the R.O.T.C. rather than the music division.

1936 WOLVERINE

IRA J. MURRAY
Managing Editor

EDITORIAL

THE Wolverine editor, aided by an imposing staff, presents in June a record of some three hundred odd pages designed to recall vividly those events which might better be left unsung.

His task is made the more pleasant by novel suggestions from friends who understand his innate weaknesses and are determined to save the book, by the unflinching demands of an efficient attendance office, and by his own feeble hope that he may graduate the same year that the book appears.

BUSINESS

NOTHING is sadder than a student publication which is not on the fees, for it must then support itself. In the face of this gigantic handicap the business manager and his staff attempt to pay for the editor's ideas. Exploitation ranging from individual attention to the yearbook needs of the frosh to calm appropriation of the major portion of the Senior Class treasury helps defray expenses. And when properly approached the business manager will sell limited space to a few select advertisers.

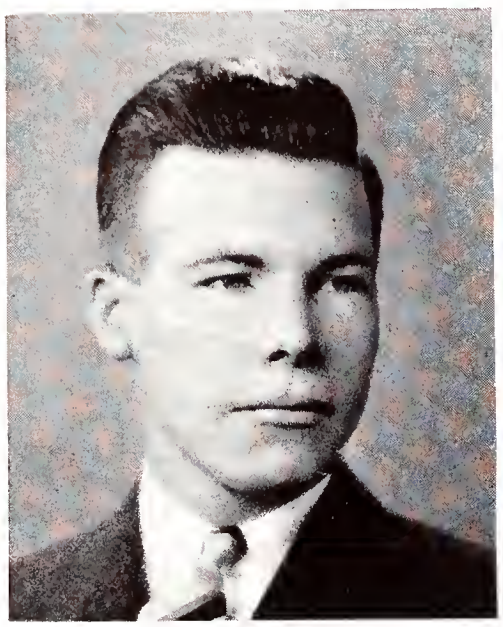
MICHIGAN STATE NEWS



DAVID V. CLEARY
Managing Editor

EDITORIAL

THE MICHIGAN STATE NEWS, official college publication, appears every Tuesday and Friday with all the news that its limited reportorial staff has collected on the preceding days. Directing this work is the managing editor, aided by the associate editor, co-ed editor, and several assistant editors.

Relatively free of censorship, the News is limited in its editorial policies only by the wrath of the student body, lack of ambition on the part of the editors, and by the deficiencies in its financial account.

BUSINESS

ALTHOUGH they keep earlier hours and rush less than their editorial colleagues, the business members of the News play an important part in keeping the paper's commercial head above water. Student subscriptions are compulsory, but the business staff must bolster that account by soliciting advertising and collecting payment on them.

Heading this staff is the business manager, who is responsible to the managing editor but never acknowledges it. He is assisted by a small group of salesmen.

THE PRESS CLUB has as its general purpose the furthering of journalistic interest and achievement on the campus and the improvement of student publications. From time to time the organization brings in as speakers men of note in the various fields of journalistic activity. Outstanding among the services rendered by the club is the sponsoring of the Press Club News Service, our news and publicity distribution agency for the secondary schools of Michigan.

The Annual Publications banquet, to which all staff members of the Wolverine and State News are invited, is sponsored and managed by the Press Club. This banquet provides the occasion for the presentation of State News and Wolverine awards.

PRESS CLUB NEWS SERVICE

INAUGURATED three years ago as part of the service work of the newly formed Press Club, the Press Club News Service has come to play an important part in the journalistic program at State. Working under a director, a competent staff of students writes personal letters to high school newspapers concerning any outstanding activities of their graduates who are now at Michigan State. Some of the various activities which are reported include athletic achievements, scholastic honors, society and organization affiliations and similar honors. This service is considered a great value both to the high schools and to the college publicity department.

MU PHI EPSILON aims to promote the advancement of music in America by stimulating musical excellence, by maintaining national contest awards and scholarship awards, and by cooperation with national and civic music movements of importance. In November this chapter held a formal reception at the home of President and Mrs. R. S. Shaw. The group gave two other formal musicals during the year, besides monthly musicals for members only. The proceeds of a benefit play review by Mr. Waldo were reserved for sending a delegate to the Mu Phi Epsilon Biennial National Convention to be held this year in Oakland, California.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

CONDUCTOR—MICHAEL PRESS

CONCERTMEISTER—JULIUS STULBERG

THE Michigan State College Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of its distinguished conductor, Michael Press, reached new heights of success in this, its second concert season. The first concert featured Mr. Alexander Schuster, 'cellist, as soloist. The orchestra gave as one number on its second concert, the premiere performance of "Prelude to a Spiritual Drama," a composition by Arthur Farwell. Mr. Fred Patton, baritone, Mr. Michael Press, as both violinist and conductor, and Mr. Schuster, as guest conductor, appeared on the third concert. The soloists on the final concert of the season were Miss Beatrice Brody, contralto, and Mr. Keith Stein, clarinetist.

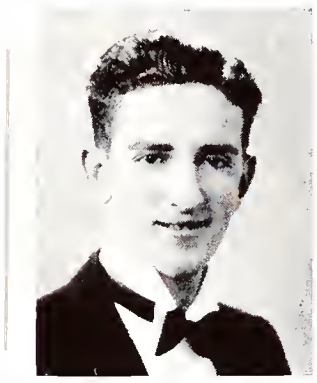
EDGAR WHITE

THE Men's Glee Club was reorganized in 1932 when Professor Fred Patton took charge as director. Since that time the club has grown and developed into an organization both active and inspirational. Members are enrolled from all divisions of the college. To belong one must prove himself a good fellow, willing to stick, and able to carry a tune. Two one-hour rehearsals are held weekly.



MARK LEWIS

During the school year the Glee Club sings at the Armistice Day program, Farmers Week, May Morning Sing and Baccalaureate. Then, too, the club sings yearly over WJR, WJIM, and WKAR, and makes appearances in Jackson, Detroit, Lansing, East Lansing, and other Michigan cities.

In Winter term the club has a closed formal party and in fall and spring terms get-together parties are held in the form of smokers. The chain rider is awarded by the college for two years service.

THE purpose of this honorary is to further dramatic art. To this end Theta Alpha Phi sponsors one or two public performances each term. The candidates for membership are chosen from those who take part in these plays. The requirements are two major roles and one minor role.

A great deal of the success of the past presentations has depended upon Professor E. S. King who has charge of campus dramatics and Professor C. H. Nickle who, with his play production classes, designs and executes the scenery for Theta Alpha Phi plays.

A barnyard scene from Chanticleer.

THE play chosen for the spring of 1935 was Edmund Rostand's famous play of birds and animals, Chanticleer. Presented in the Forest of Arden early in June, the play offered something entirely different in the way of drama. Costumes which completely concealed the identity of the players made the barnyard characters most convincing in their actions. The play was directed by Professor King.

The summer play was Smilin'

The two plays given the fall of 1935 were Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans, and Girl Shy. Both productions were given in the Little Theatre by the members of Theta Alpha Phi and the advanced dramatic classes.

THE highlight of the year for Pi Kappa Delta was the national convention of the national fraternity held at Houston, Texas, during spring vacation. Six members of the local chapter attended, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Drake. The extempore question for men was discussed by Elmer Perrin; that for women was taken by Jeanne Beukema. Donald Hittle represented Michigan State in oratory. Donald O'Hara, Lela Keener, and Hazel Sikkenga debated both negative and affirmative sides; and, in addition to their other topics, Elmer Perrin took the affirmative side and Donald Hittle, the negative.

MEN'S DEBATE

COACH—J. D. MENCHHOFER

THE members of this year's varsity debate team were selected early in the fall term from a group of about thirty try-outs. A team of eight men represented Michigan State in about forty debates held during the year in Michigan and its neighboring states. Most of the debates were held before Grange audiences, and many of them were supplementary to the regular varsity schedule. The question was Resolved: That Congress should be able to over-ride by a two-thirds vote decisions of the Supreme Court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional.

In February the team debated against other colleges in the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League Tournament held at Albion. One member of the squad also participated in the state oratorical contest conducted by the League. Donald Hittle representing State, placed in the divisional contest held at Alma College and entered the final contest at Kalamazoo College.

Donald O'Hara, Donald Hittle and Elmer Perrin attended the National Convention of Pi Kappa Delta held at Houston, Texas, March 30 to April 3. These men won four out of six debates before they were eliminated in a debate tournament in which eleven of the best teams in the country were competing. Hittle also participated in the oratorical contest and Perrin participated in the extemporaneous speaking. Neither men reached the final contest in his division.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

Coach—Ormand J. Drake

THESE young ladies competed with other Michigan Colleges in debate on the proposition: Resolved: That the Congress of the United States be Empowered to Over-ride by a Two-Thirds Vote Decisions of the Supreme Court Declaring Acts of that Congress Unconstitutional.

In addition to some twenty debates with Michigan Colleges, Michigan State also met Bowling Green University of Bowling Green, Ohio, and West Virginia University of Morgantown, West Virginia, during the regular season. The policy of the women's squad is to hold these debates before Michigan high schools, women's clubs, church organizations, and student groups. In this way a larger and more attentive audience is secured. For the most part the debates are no-decision affairs. During the regular season the debaters also participated in the Annual Michigan Intercollegiate Debate Tournament this year held at Kalamazoo. In this tournament Michigan State tied for first place.

At the conclusion of the regular debate season Miss Keener, Miss Sikkenga, and Miss Beukema were taken to Houston, Texas, to compete in the National Tournament of Pi Kappa Delta, National Forensic Honorary.

This activity of women's debating is open to all women students above the Freshman class who are eligible for extra-curricular activities. Previous experience in debating is not one of the requirements for participation. Tryouts are held during the latter part of the Fall term each year.

Founded in 1921

OFFICERS

PRESIDENT . . . . . ROBERT SANDERS
VICE-PRESIDENT . . . . . RICHARD COLINA
SECRETARY . . . . . IRA MURRAY
TREASURER . . . . . JAMES LEWIS

TO become a member of Excalibur is to be recognized as one of those select seniors who have rendered the most service to their alma mater during four years at Michigan State. Excalibur men occupy the key positions on campus and have opportunities to be of considerable influence individually as well as collectively. The blue capes of the mystic order are placed upon prospective members in the tapping ceremonies at the water carnival during Commencement Week, and again on such occasions as Spartan Day or one of the parties given by the organization.

MORTAR BOARD is the top rung of the ladder in the co-ed's ascent to honor. She is chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service. Once a Mortar Board girl, she participates in an active program of service to the college including the printing and sale of college song books, sponsoring a series of lectures in social training, maintaining an $85.00 scholarship, teaching college songs in dormitories, and the traditional Lantern Night originated by Sphinx. Last summer Wilma Wagenvoord was the Michigan State delegate to the biennial Mortar Board Convention at Lake Lure, North Carolina. This is the first time Michigan State has been represented at a Mortar Board convention.

BLUE KEY

National Honorary Men's Service Fraternity
Established at M.S.C. in 1929

OFFICERS

President	Neal Taylor
Vice-President	Fred Brenner
Secretary-Treasurer	Robert Jones
Faculty Adviser	F. T. Mitchell

BLUE KEY rendered excellent service to its alma mater this year. The group began its activities during Freshman week by helping the college authorities to handle the record enrollment as smoothly as in previous years. Other projects which these honor men have sponsored have been hygiene lectures for men students, welcoming visiting athletic teams, reviving campus traditions, and arousing student interest in college elections and pep meetings. The basis for success in all its undertakings is laid when, according to its custom, Blue Key chooses its members from those members of the Junior Class who are most outstanding in scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

FROM fifteen to twenty-five Freshman girls are tapped for Tower Guard each year at the May Morning Sing. They are so honored because they rate above their classmates in character, scholarship, potential leadership, and service. During their sophomore year these girls devote their efforts to upholding the high standards on the campus and helping with worthy college projects. Best known of the Tower Guard traditions is a Tea for Town Girls held in the Mary Mayo lounge to welcome new girls to State in September. This year the group worked with A. W.S. on the Freshman counsellor system and aided in the Freshman orientation program.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA, a professional chemical fraternity, has had an eventful year, numbering among its activities the sponsoring of the Farmer's Week "Chem Show" and the organization of a free tutoring class for Freshman students. Outstanding among the members is Bruce Warner, National Commander of Mortar and Ball, and a captain in both the Pershing Rifles and the R.O.T.C. corps. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi and Scabbard and Blade. Stuart Finch is a captain of Mortar and Ball and a major in the cadet corps, Baker is a member of Tau Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi, and Rundle belongs to Phi Lambda Tau.

ALPHA PSI is an active group of veterinary students whose formal purpose is to create and maintain a high standard of scholarship, ethics, and sociability.

A journal club meeting is held every two weeks for the purpose of discussing new veterinary problems and progress in order to keep its members well posted on the newer developments in which they have an interest.

In a general way the society serves to establish friendly relations among the students, and between the students and faculty.

WITH the underlying purpose of furthering the interest of art on the campus, Beta Alpha Sigma has sponsored many activities that would lead toward that end. First, the organization instigated the engagement of Frank Lloyd Wright, the foremost architect of the time, for the college lecture course. An exhibit of the photography of Lola Stone was followed by a showing of craft work done in Applied Industrial Art classes. Radio talks were given by members of the group. An exhibit of student work from the art department and an entertainment for high school students interested in art preceded the culminating activity, the second annual Spring Fair held in the Forest of Arden.

GREEN SPLASH

Local Honorary Women's Swimming Society
Founded in 1927

OFFICERS

President	Fontella Weaver
Vice-President	Marian Andros
Secretary	Marianna Auer
Treasurer	Alice Eastwood
Adviser	Miss Josephine Garvin

IF a co-ed aspires to the mermaid honors of Green Splash she must meet the high qualifications of the group: pass the Red Cross Life Saving examination in the college pool, be a member of her class swimming team, have a C average, and be voted upon by the active members. Membership is limited to twenty-five.

In the fall the group sponsored a Saturday afternoon of swimming to take the place of the customary date night. In January they held a closed swimming party for actives and pledges and their dates.

The spring project was a pageant, "Through the Sea Shell," written by Marianna Auer. It featured formations in the water, lighting effects, and all types of swimming.

THE home economics students at Michigan State have the opportunity of partaking in the projects of one of the most active groups on campus: the Home Economics Club is limited to members of their department. The club aims to acquaint its members with the trends and progress in the professional home economics fields. Each year it awards a scholarship to the junior woman who best exemplifies the ideals and standards of the organization. For projects, the girls do social welfare work and operate a lunch room during Farmers' Week and a gift shop during the Christmas season.

LA COFRADIA holds frequent meetings at which the members participate in games, plays, celebrations, and singing, with Spain always the predominating influence. During winter term the members observe "Carnival," a pre-Lenten holiday, similar to the French Mardi Gras. This year, La Cofradia donned masquerade costume and celebrated with a progressive dinner at the homes of Lansing members. At each house special entertainment was presented by East Lansing members. Membership is granted only to advanced students of Spanish who must retain a B grade while affiliated with the honorary.

THE Newman Club is an organization for all Catholic students on the campus. It is sponsored entirely by them under the leadership of Reverend C. M. Winters. The purpose of the group is to create a friendly spirit among the Catholic students and to give them an opportunity to become better acquainted with the principles of their faith. This purpose is accomplished by business meetings, at which the club is addressed by prominent Catholic laymen, and by social activities.

OMICRON NU is composed of the elect of the Home Economics students. It has as its purpose the furtherance of scholarship, research, and leadership in that field. Alpha chapter, at Michigan State, holds two elections, one in the fall, and the second in the winter term. During the year the organization sponsors lectures by outstanding faculty members and research workers. The girls each year present the Snyder Scholarship Cup to the sophomore home economics student who in her freshman year ranked highest in scholarship. The group also holds a tea each spring term to honor the freshman and sophomore honor roll students of the home economics department.

ORCHESIS has as its purpose the promotion of interest in the art of the dance. It affords a medium of expression for all those students who have a desire for further development in the dance, thereupon enriching their sense of beauty in one form and at the same time giving them understanding of the fundamental elements in all art forms. Each term the organization has as part of its program one major dance activity. For the past few years Orchesis has cooperated in this with the music department, taking part in the Canticle of Praise for Armistice Day.

PHI LAMBDA TAU

Local Honorary Engineering Fraternity
Founded in 1925

OFFICERS

PRESIDENT . . . . . HAROLD COOPER
VICE-PRESIDENT . . . . . LEONARD GEZON
SECRETARY-TREASURER . . . DONALD RUNDLE

PHI LAMBDA TAU was not organized to compete with Tau Beta Pi as first glance might indicate, but rather to supplement the national honorary in fields additional to scholastic attainment. While scholarship does play some part in the selection of members to this organization, its chief aim is to promote a feeling of fellowship among men in the engineering division.

Among the services rendered by the honorary to this division is active support in the sponsoring of the annual mid-winter Engineers' Ball. Each year the name of the outstanding senior engineer is placed upon the Phi Lambda Tau Plaque.

DURING the past year Sigma Epsilon has been fortunate to have such men as Dr. Polye of Chicago University, Mr. M. J. Maynard, manager of the J. C. Penney store in Lansing, and Mr. J. B. Brown, personnel manager of the Olds Motor Works on its programs. Each spring the society, in cooperation with the department of Economics, publishes and sends to some five hundred business concerns in the north central territory, a booklet entitled "Ready for Business." It contains the pictures and qualifications of Seniors graduating from the school of Business Administration and purposes to seek employment for all such graduates.

SIGMA GAMMA UPSILON was founded during the winter term of 1934 by a group of upperclassmen enrolled in the hotel administration course who felt there was need of an organization representing hotel training students. In April Sigma Gamma Upsilon took its place among the campus honoraries. Members of the organization are selected from those students who have completed at least fifty-one credits toward graduation and who have shown interest in the course from the point of both scholarship and service. An additional requirement is that members must have at least one summer's actual hotel experience or its equivalent in a similar occupation.

SIGMA PI SIGMA meets regularly on the second Tuesday of each month and entertains its members with talks on special topics related to the science of Physics. During Farmers' Week the chapter sponsored the Physics Show. Chairman Richard Struwin and his committee arranged an interesting exhibit which featured radio on a beam of light, the stroboscope, high voltage apparatus, the photo-electric effect, projection of the spectrum, a model geyser, a method of locating mineral deposits, the oscilloscope, and discharge tubes. The chapter has been given a room by the Physics Department which it has transformed into a club headquarters.

THE Spartan Camera Club was organized under the leadership of Donald Appling during the fall term of 1934. The object of the club is to further an interest in, and an understanding of, the art and science of photography. The group is sponsored by the Union Board and is open to anyone interested in any phase of photography. Meetings usually take the form of discussions; occasionally outside speakers are invited. A dark room has been equipped in the basement of the Liberal Arts Building. One of the chief activities of the club is that of taking campus snaps for the Wolverine.

SPARTAN WOMEN'S LEAGUE

THE Spartan Women's League, in its endeavor to create a stronger bond of friendship among college women and to develop campus leadership, has sponsored a great many activities during the year. Foremost among these were the compilation of a college etiquette book, the organization of the non-sorority college women, a tea for the introduction of transfer students, participation in the Co-ed Carnival, the presentation of a one-act play, the conducting of the men's social dancing classes, social service work in connection with the blind students and the needy persons of East Lansing, and the direction of one college dance each term. In addition, athletic teams were organized for competition in intramural games.

These various projects were directed by the six interest groups, namely, social, research, dramatics, publicity, social service, and athletics. The league is divided in this manner so that no possible opportunity for good work will be overlooked; and thus each girl will find a well-developed and controlled branch for her particular interest. In this way the league hopes to encompass and aid all college women.

TAU SIGMA was organized in 1923 by a group of students in the Applied Science division. Upon the formation of the Liberal Arts division in 1924 the scope of the society was increased to include students of that curriculum as well. The organization aims to encourage high scholarship on the campus and each year awards a prize to each of the sophomore students who in their Freshman year made the best scholastic record in the Applied Science and Liberal Arts departments respectively. Tau Sigma also publishes a pamphlet designed to give aids to the student who desires to increase the effectiveness of his study.

THE Y.M.C.A. has the purpose of contributing in every way possible to the men's life on campus. Many Freshmen will remember with pleasure the two days spent at the "Y" Freshman Camp before Freshman Week at which the new students were given the opportunity to become acquainted with faculty men and student leaders. The Religious Lecture Series, a project newly initiated this year, brought three speakers outstanding in the field of religion to the campus. Among the other service activities were the supplying of magazines and newspapers to students confined in the college hospital and the sponsoring of the Faculty-Student Fireside Groups.

AMONG the outstanding projects of the last year Y.W.C.A. numbers the Freshman Week Coffee and Mixer, the World Square party, the World Acquaintance Tour through the Hungarian section of Detroit, a children's Christmas party, the Faculty Snow Tea, the fall and spring retreats, the house party at Waldenwoods, the May Morning Breakfast, all of which it has sponsored in whole or in part. As part of its new policy of closer relationship between the senior and junior cabinets and members, interest group meetings have been held twice monthly, with many varied and unusual programs in which all take part.

Colonel Selwyn D. Smith

COLONEL SELWYN D. SMITH, Cavalry, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, reported for duty on July 31, 1935, after three years of duty in command of the Second Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Colonel Smith, the son of an Artillery officer, was born at Fort Monroe, Virginia, and he entered the military service in 1899. He saw service in the Filipino Insurrection, the Pershing Expedition in Mexico and the World War in France. He is a graduate of the Chemical Warfare School, the Cavalry School, the Infantry and Cavalry School, the Command and General Staff School, and the Army War College.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT has been an integral part of Michigan State College since its establishment here under the Morrell Land Grant Act in 1862. It has developed until it now consists of three units: Infantry, Cavalry, and Coast Artillery. It has always been rated excellent at the annual army inspections.

Through intelligent study of Military Science and practice in the art of Command and Leadership, students are given ample opportunity to develop individual ability and initiative which will be of great value to them in private life as well as in a national emergency.

Successful completion of the Advanced Course leads to a commission of 2nd Lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army.

REGIMENTAL OFFICERS

THE aim of every R.O.T.C. officer is to be made Cadet Colonel. This year the honor went to Daniel Reck of Lansing, a senior in the Infantry, for his excellent work in Military Science. For their outstanding efforts Luther Lawrence of Saginaw, a cavalryman, and David Stonecliffe of Benton Harbor, an artilleryman, received Cadet commissions of Lieutenant Colonel. These three men will be in command of the entire Regiment during the weekly reviews spring term.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

SCABBARD AND BLADE is a national honorary military fraternity for advanced R.O.T.C. students, with companies established at colleges and universities throughout the United States. The local unit, founded in 1914, is one of the oldest companies in existence.

Captain Marcus Boulware of the Infantry is the new advisor of K Company. He, with Captain J. G. Renno and Captain D. A. Taylor were inducted as Associate members early last Fall term.

K Company held two initiations this year, the first in October, when five Seniors were inducted, and the second during March, at which time twenty-five Juniors were accepted. The first group of men was pledged at the Fall Term dance in the Little Theater, while the Winter term initiates received their pledge bars at a ceremony held during the intermission of the Scabbard and Blade party in Demonstration Hall.

Each year K Company becomes more active. A rifle team made up of five men and supervised by Howard McMillan placed high in the 6th Corps area competition, and also this year a new activity was inaugurated at Michigan State by the sponsorship of a competition among basic military students to determine the best Freshman and Sophomore soldier.

THE Michigan State Rifle Team completed a successful rifle season on March 7, having won twenty matches and lost eight. They won third place in the Corps Area Intercollegiate Match, being beaten only by the University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin. The results of the William Randolph Hearst Trophy Match have not been received yet.

The only matches requiring R.O.T.C. status are the Sixth Corps Area Intercollegiate match and the Hearst Trophy match, but for all other meets eligibility depends only on the Athletic Eligibility Rules. A team for a particular match is composed of fifteen men, the ten highest scores counting. For a match, the team fires on the standard small bore fifty foot indoor range in Demonstration Hall. The scores are then mailed or wired to the competing teams not later than the following Saturday noon.

The average score for each man is computed at the end of the season. The ten men having the highest scores are awarded the regulation Michigan State sweater for minor sports and the next five medals. The team is coached by Captain H. F. Newell, Infantry, and Sergeant S. H. Field, Infantry.

THE Polo Team has finished its most successful season since it was instituted here several years ago. Because of the excellent coaching of Lieutenant Drake the team has been able to win six of its nine scheduled games. The advertising instigated by Captain Taylor, brought a much deserved response by the student body.

Wallace Clark, Bob Weber, Chuck Failing and Don Freshour composed the nucleus of the team, while a fine reserve of lower classmen has been built up to fill any emergencies or vacancies.

Leonard Falcone

LEONARD FALCONE, director of the Michigan State College Military Band, received his early training in Italy under the famous Maestro Danatelli. In coming to this country Mr. Falcone entered the University School of Music at Ann Arbor, from which institution he later graduated. Since he has been in this country Mr. Falcone has become known as an outstanding soloist and has appeared with many famous musical organizations. Although having played all of the common instruments, he is nationally known as master of the euphonium.

Mr. Falcone is the instigator of the Spring concerts presented each year in the Forest of Arden which have been well attended not only by students but also by music lovers throughout the state.

THE Michigan State College crack Military Band, one of the outstanding and one of the most important organizations on the campus, was founded over sixty-five years ago in the Fall of 1870. At this time the band consisted of fifteen pieces and was under the direction of a student. Fifteen years later it became a military unit when the present Military Department was organized on the campus. Accordingly student direction was no longer satisfactory, and Professor A. J. Clark of the Chemistry Department was appointed as director of the band.

Since that time many well trained musicians have marched over the parade grounds and now the band is nationally famous for its high caliber of marching and playing. They have made numerous trips in the past and have marched in competition with some of the best bands of the collegiate world. In fact it is reputed to be the best marching band in the Middle West. The band's services are in great demand and it fills a great many engagements on and off the campus. Aside from performing at all athletic events the band plays a leading part in the military reviews held in the Spring term, and also furnishes music for the annual Farmers Week and the Commencement exercises.

Trips during the year included the Ann Arbor trip for the State-U. of M. game, the trip to Temple University at Philadelphia, and several appearances in Detroit where the band played for the Detroit Lions world champion professional football team. Everywhere it appeared it was received with great acclaim, especially at Temple University, where the Philadelphia papers gave the band very favorable notices.

Again this year the band presented a great variety of drill formations during the football season. One of the most novel of these was that used at Temple University, the word "HOWDY" being formed with the letter "O" in formation apart from the band. This letter revolved down the field and finally fitted into the complete word.

The perfection of the drilling was attained by the expert instruction of Captain H. J. Golightly of the Military Department, official drill master of the band.

Each year the band presents a series of weekly concerts during May in the Forest of Arden, known as the Spring concerts. The high caliber music presented and the perfection with which the band performs attract very large crowds including musicians and music lovers throughout the state. Such internationally known artists as Lewis Richards, pianist, and Fred Patton, baritone, formerly with the Metropolitan Opera Company, have appeared at these concerts.

This year's band was considered one of the best, if not the best band the college has ever had. Because of its well known reputation it is constantly attracting more and more high school musicians, whose ability is of high caliber.

THE BAND CLUB is composed of junior and senior members of the Michigan State College Band who have shown outstanding ability during their first two years. Begun in 1920 as a disciplinary organization it has grown in purpose until now it is the driving and stabilizing force of the band. It stimulates the yearly drive for new bandmen and serves as a committee for the band's social activities.

STATE has always been proud of her athletic teams and their accomplishments. Since sports are flashy and colorful, the portion of the book devoted to athletics has only to portray these characteristics to insure its success. That has been our complete aim. We have tried to add interest to the major sports by introducing each of them with an action shot. This idea could not be carried out in the minor sports because our space is so limited. We hope that all of State's teams will find this athletic section a worthy record of their accomplishments.

H L E T I C S

Ralph H. Young

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

As HEAD of the Michigan State sport plant, Ralph H. Young has been a decidedly important factor in the rapid rise of Spartan prestige in intercollegiate athletics. Thirteen years ago, when he first took over the athletic directorship, Michigan Agricultural College was an unknown quantity in the sporting world. But because of the genius of Coach Young in arranging attractive schedules, Spartan teams have come to be recognized as powerful aggregations well trained and well equipped to handle any opponent. Coach Young has been highly responsible for the fine track schedule and has sent well trained combinations into the field to justify his selection of powerful opponents.

TRAINER

For twenty-one years Jack Heppinstall has served as trainer for Michigan State teams. His bailiwick is the training and stock rooms of the Spartans, where his word is unwritten law, where the smell of arnica and tape and sweat pervade the masculine air. Jack is on hand at all times to knead sore muscles, to give counsel on diet and training, to keep the boys in shape. Every fall he gathers up his bottle of lime water and his kit and administers to the battered gridders. Winter finds him with basketballers, trackers, wrestlers, boxers and swimmers, adjusting bone and cartilage and muscle. And during spring season it's baseball and track. Through the whole routine, year in and year out, goes Jack, his up-country burr and his fighting eyes adding a word of cheer in victory or defeat.

DEDICATION OF MACKLIN FIELD

NOVEMBER ninth, in an impressive ceremony during the half of the Marquette Homecoming game, Macklin Field was dedicated in honor of John Farrell Macklin, director of athletics and head coach of all sports at Michigan State College from the fall of 1911 to the spring of 1916. A star in all sports while he attended the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Macklin came to Michigan State when the school was but a babe in arms in athletic circles.

With almost primitive equipment and a handful of willing young athletes, Mr. Macklin brought Michigan State into the national sport light by sensational victories over Michigan, Ohio State, and other Goliaths of the gridiron. Not only was Mr. Macklin confronted with the perplexing problem of arranging schedules, but his work was complicated by the fact that he had to produce teams that would handle these schedules. That he succeeded admirably is testified to by his record and by the athletic prestige Michigan State has acquired.

VARSITY CLUB

VARSITY CLUB members, unlike those of other campus organizations, retain their membership for life. It is they who occupy the benches behind the team at football games—they have life passes to all home games.

Although they average only one meeting a term, the boys at that time organize their plans for the future so that the club is continually functioning. In the fall they entertained for the Kansas football team with a Victory Dance. It drew a record crowd. At that time twenty men were invested with the green and white sash and green S of the organization. Later the club assisted at a banquet for the players who had been named for the All State High School Football team by Coach Bachman. The Varsity Club formal was the crowning event of the winter term activities of the group.

COACHES

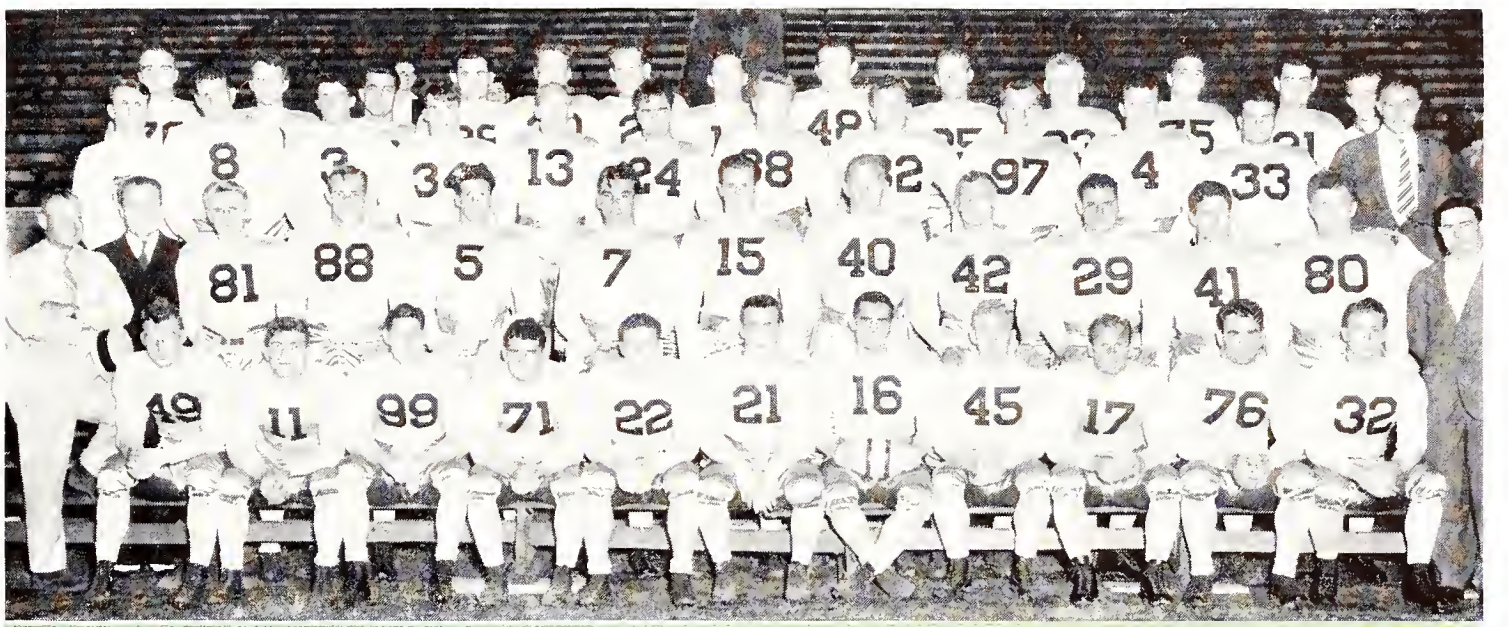
Charles W. Bachman

COACH OF FOOTBALL

COMING to Michigan State from the University of Florida, Coach Charles Bachman made the long awaited drubbing of Michigan in 1934 not a wish-fulfillment dream but an actuality. In 1935 he proved that his team had scored no fluke over Michigan, when the Spartans ran wild to repeat their win over the Wolverine, a bigger and better Wolverine, by a larger margin.

Using the famous Notre Dame system with which he had become familiarized as an All-American under the late Knute Rockne, Bachman again developed a high scoring aggregation whose greatest liability was lack of weight and whose greatest assets were craftiness and speed. If example is better than precept, then the fact that Bachman is an extremely able coach is testified to by the scores piled up against such opponents as Michigan, Kansas, Washington U., Loyola, and the crushing of Temple's touted undefeated Owls.

In the three short years he has been at Michigan State, Bachman has become immensely popular among the students, faculty, and the public, so popular that in a nation wide poll of fans he was selected as first assistant coach for the All-Star game at Chicago, second only to Frank Thomas of Alabama Rose Bowl fame.



ALL-STAR GAME

RIDING on the wave of popular acclaim evidenced by the flood of votes cast in his favor, Coach Charles Bachman last summer brought added mention to the college in being elected first assistant coach of the All-Star forces in the annual pro-amateur conflict.

Inaugurated by Chicago Tribune's sports editor-promoter Arch Ward, a nation-wide balloting was instituted to select twenty-four players and four coaches out of college ranks to oppose the Chicago Bears in a gala night game. Lansing and Michigan turned out solidly to back Coach Bachman. Radio addresses by Governor Fitzgerald, Mickey Cochrane, and various community mayors, street voting booths manned by co-eds, newspaper publicity, and the people themselves united to award Charlie Bachman thousands of votes for the second position.

The game itself was well planned and carried out. Head coach for the college stars, Frank Thomas of Alabama Rose Bowl fame, was confined to a sick bed for two weeks prior to the game, and Charlie Bachman managed the college team, ably assisted by Wisconsin's Doc Spears and St. Mary's Slip Madigan, third and fourth place winners.

Playing in a driving rain storm, the All-Stars lost out to the Chicago Bears 5 to 0. But Coach Bachman proved a splendid coach, Ed Klewicki and Russ Reynolds, State graduates, played with the college stars, and Big Art Buss, another Spartan product, claimed the honor of being the best lineman on the field as the Bear's left tackle.

BENJAMIN VANALSTYNE

COACH OF BASKETBALL

POSSESSING a deep fund of basketball knowledge, Benjamin F. Van Alstyne, developer of great basketball machines, rounds out a decade of coaching years at Michigan State College with a fine record. 112 games won, 55 lost, is Van's feat of coaching.

He came to State in 1926 at a time when the "Aggies" were being victimized on the court by a parcel of odd-lot schools throughout the state. His first teams ended that. Nationally prominent schools are on the Spartan schedule today because Van built up the prestige when his teams defeated the bigger schools. He is highly regarded in the profession.

COACH OF BASEBALL

A VERSATILE athlete himself at Hamline University, winning 11 letters in football, baseball, basketball, and track, John H. Kobs came to Michigan State College as basketball and baseball coach in 1924. After coaching two years of basketball, upon the enlargement of that department, he assumed the head coaching of baseball. His record, exclusive of southern training trip games, of 111 games won, 58 lost and 3 tied is in itself a statistical tribute to the ability of Coach Kobs.

JOHN H. KOBS

COACH OF CROSS COUNTRY

HIMSELF the first of a series of long distance stars, Coach Lauren P. Brown has, in the past five years, seen three of his proteges gain national recognition and individual honors in the I. C. 4-A. Not only does his excellent record testify to his abilities as cross-country coach and assistant coach of track, but the opinion of the men on the squads that "Brownie is one swell guy" is proof of his capabilities as a track mentor. Looking forward to his sixth year of coaching, Brown anticipates a season fully as good as the past year, and looking at his past record, it is safe to say that it will be.

Captain Sid Wagner

RATED "impregnable" by the nation's gridiron critics, the first Spartan to break prominently into the All-American lists, for three years a letter winner on the Varsity, and honorary captain of the Michigan State 1935 eleven, Sidney Wagner is the one player without a single weakness that Coach Bachman has seen. Light, aggressive, a superb blocker, a deadly tackler, Wagner fitted nicely into the Spartan type of play and would have fitted into any type of play. "Even in defeat," runs the United Press account, "Wagner was great. In the Boston College game he made twenty-three tackles."

Turning in three years of performance almost beyond criticism, Wagner justly deserves the honor of being the first Spartan to merit All-American honors. Selected as Guard on the United Press, New York Sun, and Liberty All-Players All-American, Wagner was also placed on the Associated Press All-American and was the choice of Mid-Western writers on all the All-Western teams.

Varsity Backfield

THE 1935 edition of the Spartan gridmachine, although one of the lightest teams in the nation, demonstrated that brawn is not all and that speed, skill, trickiness is more essential to a successful football team than beef. So light that they were immediately dubbed "the Mighty Mites of Michigan State", the Spartans proved to be a unit whose resourcefulness and speed balanced nicely and whose ability is well testified to by the scores run up against more obese opponents.

As pilot, the Spartans found Dick Colina, quarterback, to be an excellent field marshal, a dependable blocker, a slippery safety man, and a speedy ball toter. Harrison "Red" Neumann filled in capably at the quarterback reserve. Red's fire and dash were outstanding in quality. Backfield mates Dick Edwards, with a world of speed, and Kurt Warmbein, whose versatile talents included the triple threats and a change of pace, added little weight but much dash to the team. Steve Sebo, alternating with Edwards throughout the season, was another pony back. Al Agett, a slow starter, finished the season as one of State's outstanding backs. Fred Ziegel alternated at half and quarter, being especially good as a safety man. Fullback Arthur Brandstatter coupled a crushing line attack with his adroit antics as blocker par excellence. Kurt Kuhne, the Pontiac Express, and Don Wiseman were other active fullbacks—both exceptional plungers and tacklers.

In the end position Bob Allmann and Lou Zarza were the regulars, and their speed in going down after punts was a source of wonder for sports writers. Of particular value were these two in the end-around play so successfully used by the Spartans at crucial moments during the season. Frank Gaines, rangy Sophomore, Henry Kutchins, and Milton Lehnhardt capably filled substitute positions and could be depended upon for a satisfactory performance by a team that depended much upon the end-around play and the forward pass.

There was, during the past season, an abundance of good tackles. Julius Sleder and Howard Zindel, a brace of burly Juniors, held down the tackle posts with an aggressiveness in defense and offense, while Bachman had in Arch

Varsity Coaches

Ross, Harry Speelman, and Howard Swartz three capable men with which to replace Sleder and Zindel.

Four guards stood head and shoulders above the rest; Sid Wagner, Gordon Dahlgren, Miles Wilson and Tom Gortat. Wagner, an All-American and an all-time great at Michigan State, proved to be an impregnable lineman. "He plays most of the time in the opponent's backfield," one newspaper account of the Spartan star runs, "but not to the opponent's advantage." Dahlgren, holding down the other post, was a guard second only in ability to Wagner. Wilson and Gortat proved to be dependable substitutes when Bachman wished to withdraw his two ace guards from the line-up.

Holding down the center job on the team was Joe Buzolits. What he lacked in weight Buzolits atoned for with speed, aggressiveness, and stamina. Vince Vanderburg, vying with Buzolits for the center post, made up for an early season passing deficiency with constant practice and gained valuable experience for his final year of varsity play.

GRINNELL COLLEGE 0

SHOWING an amazing reserve of power and speed in running rough-shod over Grinnell College of Iowa, State's Spartans rolled up a total of forty-one points, and although ragged spots of play were evident, the exhibition was sufficiently scintillating to send Michigan scouts back to Ann Arbor wagging their heads hopelessly. After Sebo had swept end for the first six points, the Mighty Mites of Michigan State staged five more relentless touchdown marches, Brandstatter accounting for twelve points in the second half, and Kuhne, Wiseman, and Gaines each tallying once. The Spartan forward wall proved itself impregnable to Grinnell attacks and displayed an aggressiveness that promised to carry Michigan State once again into national prominence.

MICHIGAN STATE 25 — UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN 6

FOR the second successive year, a Spartan whirlwind swept the Michigan stadium, crushed the traditional rivals 25-6, and dispelled the skepticism of the most critical observers. Scarcely two minutes after the opening kick-off the issue was settled by a plunge at center by Brandstatter for the first of the four Spartan touchdowns. The Wolverines' lone touchdown came near the end of the first frame when a fake placekick was converted into a successful pass. Colina, momentarily fumbling a Michigan punt, recovered, reversed his field, and scampered sixty yards through a dazed Michigan team for the second marker. The other two touchdowns were the results of a flat pass from Warmbein to Colina and a forty-six yard jaunt by Agett.

HELD scoreless for thirty-five minutes by a game Kansas team, Spartan fury struck again, marking Michigan State as one of the football powers of the nation, when the State eleven toppled Kansas University, 41-0. Slow in getting started, the team that had rolled up 25 points against Michigan, did not click until late in the second period, when a pass from Sebo to Warmbein netted the first Spartan marker. The half ended 7-0 in State's favor. But the victory mad Spartans were not to be denied. A barrage of passes from Agett to Allmann resulted in the second counter. During the last half, the touchdowns came thick and fast, and the Spartan tide was stemmed only by the final gun.

AFTER an open Saturday, Michigan State's sensational grid machine met Boston College in Beantown. The result was one of the major upsets of the season. The Spartans struck early in the game, scoring on a fourth down pass from Agett to Zarza. Boston immediately countered with a pass and an end run to tie up the score. Boston's other two counters came in the second half.

BOSTON COLLEGE 18

Bad breaks and an inspired Boston team combined to hold the Spartans scoreless for the remainder of the game. Time after time, the Spartans opened sustained marches down the field, only to be frustrated by a stubborn Boston team and bad breaks. When the final gun sounded, Boston College had toppled State from the nation's undefeated list by the score of 18-6.

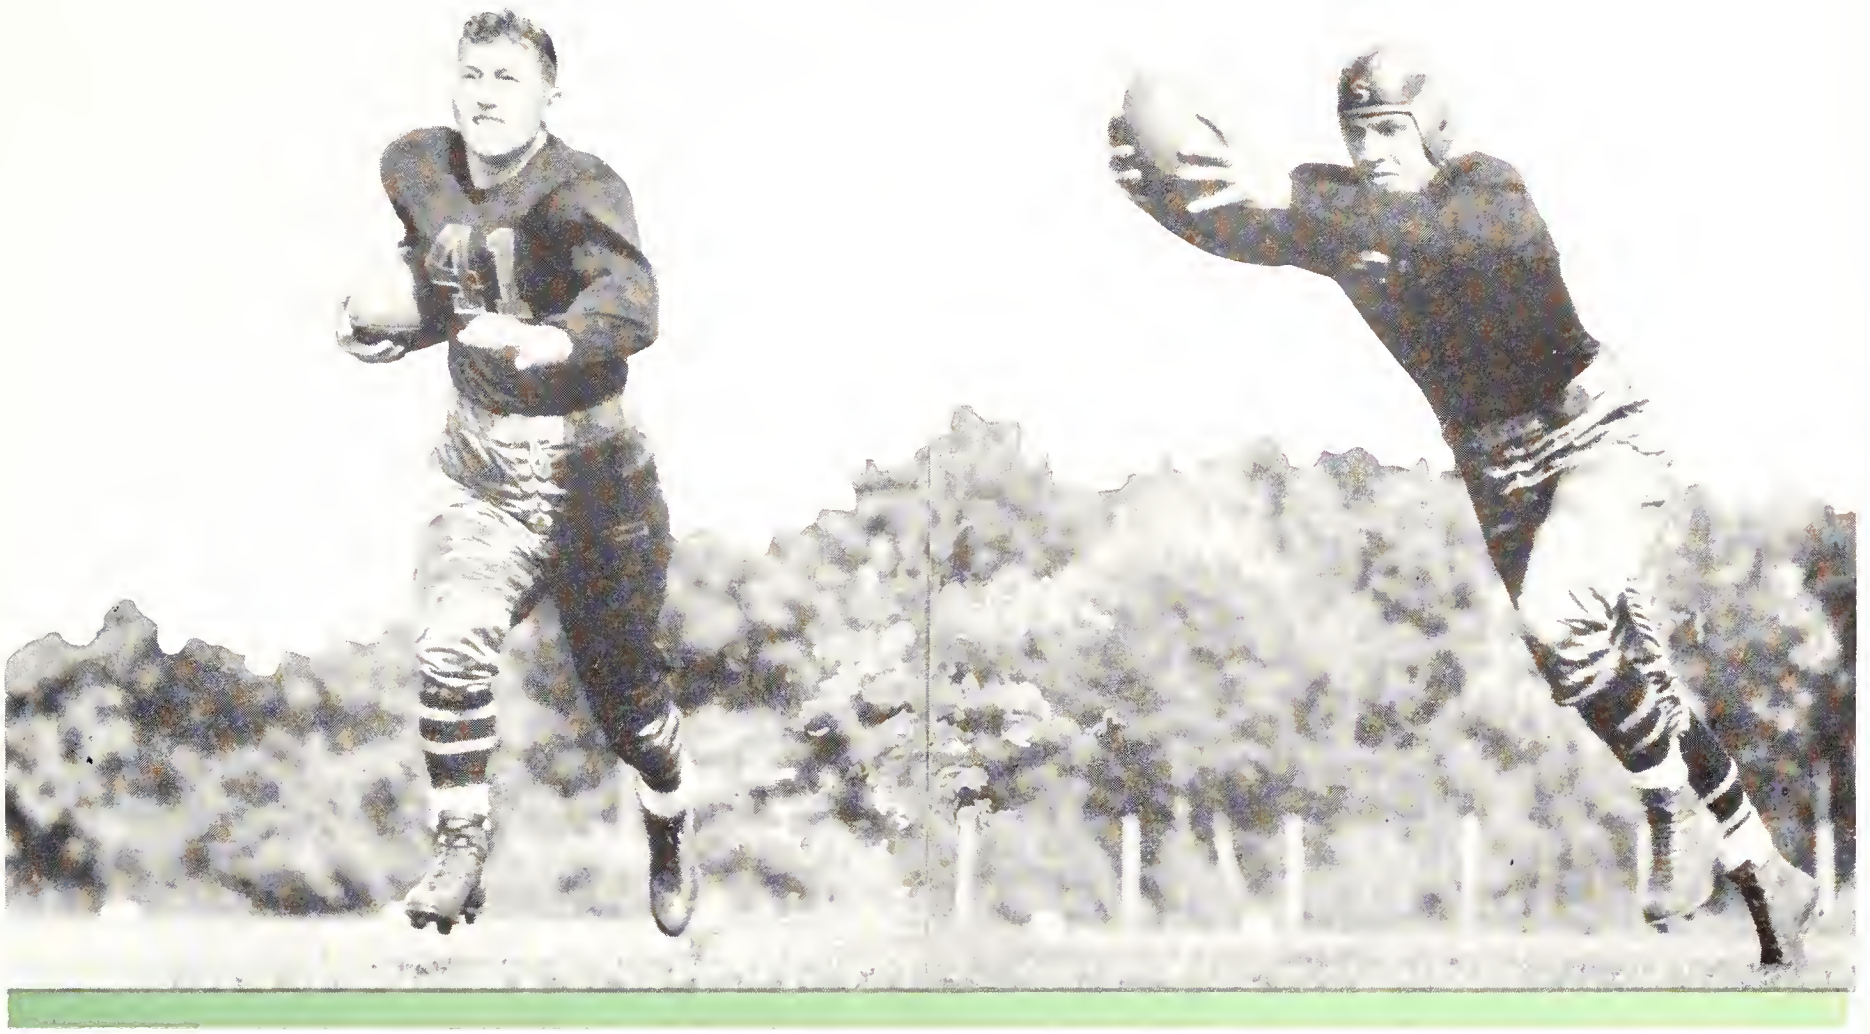
USING a bewildered Washington U. team as a comeback victim, the Spartans displayed a dazzling offensive in rolling up 47 points. After Brandstatter had scored on the second play of the game, the Spartan aggregation tallied again and again, almost at will. Nor could Washington U. stave off the mad onslaught staged by the second and third string teams inserted by Bachman after a safe lead had been accrued by his prize crew. The ball-bearing snake-hips and unerring passing of Al Agett, coupled with the ability of Allmann on the receiving end, enabled State to run up the highest score of the season. The Spartans were clearly on the comeback trail after the Boston debacle.

WASHINGTON U. 13



SEBO ALLMANN

MICHIGAN STATE 12

MEETING Pop Warner's hitherto undefeated Temple eleven, the Spartans provided a melodramatic finale to shake the Owls from their perch. Held in check by a heavy Temple team and a rain soaked field, the Spartans returned to the dressing room at half-time on the wrong end of a 7-0 score. But at the kick-off of the second half, a second string State squad battered all resistence out of the Owls. Still trailing at the opening of the fourth quarter, the first-string eleven was inserted. A fifty-yard touchdown jaunt by Brandstatter left State still behind. But the Spartans, scenting victory, were not to be stopped. Agett, scooping up a Temple fumble, returned the ball to the Temple 30-yard line. Again he streaked loose to the 10-yard line. As time grew less and less, Allmann, on a deceptive end around, lugged the ball across for the winning points. Score, Michigan State 12, Temple 7.

HOMECOMING and Stadium dedication ceremonies proved as big a jinx to the Spartans as had Boston. Marquette tallied early, scoring on a beautiful pass from Buivid to Art Guepe. Threatening a comeback in the second quarter, state connected on a long pass from Agett to Allmann, but the play, ruled illegal by officials, resulted in returning the ball to Marquette and a 6-0 score for Marquette at the half. Repeating strategy highly successful at Temple the preceding week, Bachman inserted an entirely new team the second half.

MARQUETTE 13

The Spartans failed to score again, when Agett, driving across the Hilltopper goal line was recalled by officials. A wild third quarter, featuring long dashes, intercepted laterals, recovered fumbles and a bevy of forward passes, resulted in another Marquette touchdown. The Spartan first team returned in the last quarter and tallied with a pass from Agett to Colina. Trying to pull the game from the fire, the Spartans fought savagely but vainly and the final gun found State on the wrong end of a 13-7 count.

EDWARDS

MICHIGAN STATE 27

ROLLING up a four touchdown victory over Tom Lieb's Loyola University eleven, State made an impressive West Coast debut. A punt blocked by Zindel was scooped up and run across the Lion goal line for the first Spartan marker by Buzolits. The second Spartan tally resulted from a sustained drive, Wiseman scoring on a plunge. The last two touchdowns came in the final quarter, the first scored by Zarza on an end around play and Schrader accounting for the last touchdown of the season by recovering a fumbled punt behind the Loyola goal. The Spartan line showed to good advantage during the game, fulfilling press notices, and the backfield showed a punch when a punch was needed. Slow in getting started, not crossing the Loyola goal line until midway in the second quarter, the Spartans displayed form reminiscent of their phenomenal early season success, running up a high score and holding the opposing team scoreless.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

October 9	State Frosh 12	Central State 6
October 16	State Frosh 19	Varsity Reserves 18
October 20	State Frosh 31	Olivet 19
November 8	State Frosh 0	Western State 21

ONE of the most successful seasons in Spartan sports was enjoyed by the Freshman football team. Besides providing scrimmage sessions for the Varsity, the Frosh turned in an exceptional season's performance, winning three out of four scheduled games.

Opening against a heavier and more experienced Central State Teachers' College eleven, the Frosh gridders, led by Szacz who opened the scoring with a sixty-five yard run-back of a punt, held the hefty Teachers to one touchdown, winning the fray by a 12-6 count. In the second game of the season, the Kobsmen spilled their old rivals, the Varsity Reserves. Trailing 12-18 as the referee was pulling the gun from his pocket, the Frosh converted a fumble into a touchdown, made the extra point, and came out on the right end of a close but sufficiently 19-18 tally. The Freshmen next took a scrappy light squad from Olivet for their third consecutive win of the season. Tricky and resourceful, the Comets were no match for the yearlings, and the Frosh rolled up a total of 31 points to their opponent's 19 to chalk up their third straight victory. A more experienced, faster, and heavier Western State eleven provided the Kobsmen with their only setback of the season, overwhelming the Frosh by a 21-0 count.

1936 SEASON

WHEN the 1935-36 basketball schedule was arranged by Coach Van Alstyne last fall, he was entirely aware that the billing of such schools as the University of Kentucky, Northwestern, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Temple, Syracuse, Michigan, Marquette, and Butler—all big-time cage colleges—might offer a humble season for the Spartans.

And Coach Van Alstyne did not delude himself. He faced the task of putting together a machine that had been broken the previous June by the loss of two star guards, a towering center, and an agile forward. Ronald Garlock, a seasoned forward of the previous team that went through the season winning 14 and losing but 4, was the nucleus of the new formation.

Two months of practice preceded the opening game with Albion College on December 2. Still in the process of experimentation, the Spartans had trouble in downing Albion 36 to 28. Lining up for State were Senior Dan Reck and Sophomore Howard Kraft, forwards; Junior Maurice Buysse, center; and Juniors Ron Garlock and Joe Smith, guards.

December 6 found the boys in Madison, Wisconsin, for a brush with the University. Still shaky and somewhat disorganized, the Green went down to a 26 to 21 defeat in a game that exhibited the effects of the new pivot ruling whereby the offensive team loses the ball if it remains in the foul circle over three seconds. Neither Buysse nor Wilkinson made a point for State, nor did either Badger center connect.

mas vacation sent the team on the road, but not until they had defeated West Virginia University on the home floor, December 30, in an overtime thriller, 25 to 24. Away on the Eastern tour, the State aggregation lost successively to Syracuse U., 38-24 on January 1, and Temple U, at Philadelphia, 47 to 24 on January 3. A change in the lineup sent Buysse to a forward post and saw Wilkinson at center, Garlock remaining at guard along with Smith. This combine defeated Michigan at Ann Arbor on the sixteenth was the next engagement. Playing highly improved basketball, the Spartans held a Superior Michigan team to a standstill and led at half-time 22 to 21. Then the Wolverines came back to shut out State in the second half to gain a 35-34 decision.

Exams cut into the next week's practice. With one day of warm-up the cagers left for Evanston to absorb another licking from Northwestern U. by a score of 29 to 25. Christ-

Much hope was injected into the cage picture with the winning of the Loyola University game on the tenth by a 32-20 margin. Another juggle saw Buysse relegated to the bench with a badly sprained ankle which put Wilkinson at the pivot post and saw Eddie Rolen at forward with Kraft.

To date that was four contests won and five lost. Then the strong Marquette U. five invaded Demonstration Hall for a two-game series on the nights of January 17 and 18. It was tooth and nail the first night, Marquette getting away with a close but interesting game by 21 to 20. Saturday night's conflict was a repetition of the rough going. State won this one in overtime, 35 to 31, the lineup remaining intact for both games.

The powerful and experienced University of Kentucky cage team sewed up the State offense at Lexington on the twenty-first and took the January 25 and 29 saw two victories for the Spartans over Michigan Normal. The first game at Ypsilanti ended in a 37-24 win, and the home affair turned out an 18 to 15 victory.

With the end of the season at hand, Butler University, in the shape of a six-foot-plus quintent, added another defeat to the East Lansing string. The score was 24 to 21.

1935 SEASON

WHEN Coach John Kobs started his 1935 edition of the Spartan baseball nine off on their schedule, hopes were none too bright for a successful year. He had lost a great part of his team from the year before, and he didn't know just how his boys would stand up against the hard schedule that faced them. He was faced with the task of finding a dependable first string catcher, developing a pitching staff, molding an outfield together, and patching up an infield that was torn apart by graduation.

Perhaps the most difficult of these jobs was to find a receiver to work behind the plate. There were few candidates for the position, and the most likely of the lot appeared to be the stocky little football man from Battle Creek, Steve Sebo. How Kobs turned Sebo into as fine a first-year catcher as the Spartans have had in years is a story that entices much speculation. Yet Sebo worked in every game for the Kobsmen and gave them the kind of catching necessary for a first rate nine.

The Spartans took the field in their first game with an infield composed of Bartling at first, Fager second, Fiedler short, and Rouse third. Rouse was captain of the outfit and was looked upon as the most dependable of the infielders. He was just that all year long. Fager gave Kobs some fine fielding around the keystone sack, and joined with Fiedler in composing a well-timed duo that formed the backbone of the State defense. Bartling at first turned in a year of dependable first basing, and fielded on a par with all his opponents.

The State outfield had Parker in left, Lehnhardt in center and Welch in right. Alternating with Welch was Ziegel, and this pair gave the Spartans the edge on all opponents when compared along the line of speed. Both were fast men and dangerous when on the bases. Parker was possessed of a deadly throwing arm that enabled him to be counted on as a member of the hurling staff, and few were the times that runners took chances with his arm. Lehnhardt was described as the smoothest working center fielder ever to play at College Field, and his work at the bat was of the type not often witnessed in first-year men.

Allan Kronbach formed the basis on which Kobs built his mound staff. George Hill, another sophomore, won the second starting berth away from John Berg, lanky hurler from Hamtramck. Hopkins, Connor and Parker comprised the rest of his staff and did the relief hurling.

Captain Art Rouse

The Spartans started off the year in a southern training trip through the Carolinas and came home with a record of 2 wins, 3 loses and one tie. The highlight of the trip was the 17-1 trouncing handed Furman College. The other win was over the University of South Carolina by a score of 5-1. The trip served as a warm-up for the rest of the schedule to follow and gave Kobs a good idea of how his men could perform under fire.

Back along the Red Cedar after spring vacation, Kobs put his team through two weeks of tough workouts and then was ready to open the campaign. Hillsdale College was beaten in the opener and three wins followed in a row. The first losses of the year were to Wisconsin and to the strong Western State Teachers nine in Kalamazoo. The Teachers later on in the season came to College Field to hand the Kobsmen another defeat at home, an accomplishment that was duplicated only by Wisconsin and by the University of Iowa in the next to the last game of the year.

Two wins over Ypsilanti Normal marked the campaign, sprinkled in with a decisive single win over the University of Michigan and even breaks with Iowa, Notre Dame and Wisconsin. The final standing showed the Spartans winding up their campaign with a total of 10 wins, 10 loses and one tie. Western State and Ohio State held decisions over the Spartans in the two-game series between the two nines.

This edition of the Spartans was, toward the end of the year, working as smoothly as any Kobs has put out. They had their periods of greatness and Kobs had reason to be pleased with them. Many of the players were sophomores, so the State mentor will have material to build his next nine upon.

The opening game with Hillsdale College was a loosely played game, misplays counting for the large scores more than a strong attack did. Johnnie Berg started for the Kobsmen but was chased in the fourth when the Dales ran over eight markers. Kronbach finished and received credit for the win. Fager was the individual star of the day, with three hits and three runs. The final score was State 10, Hillsdale 9.

Northwestern University sent its Wildcat nine here in the Spartans second game and they went home with a beating administered to them by a one-point margin. Parker started for State but couldn't survive an uprising in the second when the Wildcats scored 7 times. Kronbach again finished and received the credit when the Spartans scored 2 runs in the eighth to win. Welch and Fager each got two hits, and State finished on the long end of a 8-7 score.

In a two-game series with Wisconsin's Badgers, the Spartans failed to keep their winning streak intact. Hill set the Badgers down with a fine hurling performance in the first game as Sebo was getting 3 hits, and State won by a score of 4 to 3. In the second game, however, the Kobsmen found themselves on the short end of the 6 to 5 count.

In their fourth one-point win, the Spartans eked out another victory, this time over the Irish of Notre Dame, Allan Kronbach was on the mound again and went the route for his third win of the year. Welch hit safely three times. The Notre Dame battery was composed of Rydell, Thernes and Underkolfer. State won by a 5 to 4 score.

Away from home for the first time, the Spartans ran into another setback. Western State Teachers turned the trick as they outslugged the Kobsmen in another loosely played game. Hill started for State but was driven to cover, and Lefty Brandt failed to last for the Teachers. The score was State 4, Western State 6.

Ypsilanti brought their nine to College Field in the next game and Kronbach turned in a six-hit game to beat the Normalites. Johnson hurled a fine game for the visitors also, but Kronbach had the better support. It was the fifth win of the year for the Spartans. The final score stood State 4, Ypsi 3.

Two games at Columbus with Ohio State resulted in two defeats for the Spartans. George Hill started the first game but couldn't last, being followed by Berg and Hopkins. State had this game on ice as they scored a run in the first half of the tenth to take the lead, but Hopkins was found for the winning tallies in the Buckeye half. Kronbach pitched the second game and the Spartans were beaten decisively for the first time. Scores of the two games were State 7, Ohio State 8; and State 2, Ohio State 5.

In the return game with Ypsi, Kobs brought his men home with a duplicate of their first win. Parker was the moundsman in this game, hurling against Johnson again. Bartling hit the ball out of the lot to account for two of the State runs, as the Spartans won by a count of 5 to 4.

Western State was the next nine to invade the campus along the Red Cedar, and they brought an outfit that administered another beating to the Kobsmen. Brandt hurled for the Teachers against Kronbach, and although Allan hurled a fine ball game, he had the misfortune to feed the opposing hitters some extra-base balls. Brandt hit a home run to augment his winning brand of pitching. The final score was State 2, Western State 5.

After the first of two scheduled games had been postponed because of rain, Michigan's Wolverines came to College Field for a single game. George Hill stacked up against Larson in one of the finest hurling duels of the year. Hill set the Wolverines down with a single run and was the master all the way. Sebo's timely hitting was a big factor in the Spartan's win. Larson was relieved by Patchin, the ace of the Wolverine staff. This was the best played ball game of the year and the edge went to State because Hill was unbeatable on the mound and because Sebo was hitting. The final score was State 4, Michigan 1.

Johnny Berg snapped out of his streak of wildness as he started the next game, but, although he hurled a fine game, State couldn't hit when the hits were needed. As a result, Notre Dame edged out a ten-inning victory over the Kobsmen in South Bend. Berg was in fine form and deserved a better fate. It was a fine ball game and the Spartans showed a fine brand of baseball. State lost in the tenth inning by a 2 to 1 score.

In their last appearance of the season, the Spartans engaged the University of Iowa in a two-game series at College Field. The Hawkeyes won the first day, but State came back the next day to wind up their campaign with a win. The score of the first game was State 2, Iowa 5; the second game was State's, 5 to 4.

1 9 3 5 SEASON

THE team traveled to Austin, Texas, and there tied with Kansas State for first place with a score of 18. In the one mile, all four men finished in the first six places to win that event. The same four men ran second in the medley relay. The time was 10:41. Hammer ran the 3,000 meter relay in 9:46 and came in fourth.

Down at the 30th Annual Kansas Relays, held at Lawrence, four of the boys again walked away with a victory. Dennis, Gardner, Ottey and Hurd won the Four-Mile Relay in 17:42, followed by Kansas University.

Next came the 41st Annual Penn Relays at Philadelphia, where the team captured an olive wreath for themselves. Dennis, Gardner, Ottey and Hurd chalked up another victory in the Distance in 10:18. State took fourth in the 3,000 Meter Steeple Chase. Dittrich took fourth in the Running, Hop, Step and Jump, and sixth in the Running Broad Jump.

Battling grimly, the team lost ground to a superior Notre Dame team. However, four State men won first place in four events. Mueller won the 100 yards in 9.9, Wright won the 880 yards in 1:54.7, Hurd won the Mile Run in 4:23.1, and Ottey won the Two-Mile in 9:35.1. Final score was: State 38½, Notre Dame 92½.

At the 20th Annual State Intercollegiate Meet, State ran away again with the state championship title. State and Western raced side by side through the events until State finally nosed their opponents out by 2½ points. The team won three events and tied for first in another. Uckele won the pole vault, Dittrich won the broad jump, Wright came in first in the 880-yard run, and Mueller finished first in the 220-yard dash.

At the 59th Annual I.C.A.A.A.A. in Cambridge, Massachusetts, State finished fifth in a competition with thirty-seven other schools. Mueller took third in the second heat 100 meters, but did not qualify for finals. Wright took third in the heat and second in the finals in the 800-meter run. Gardner was third in the 1,500-meter run. Ottey took seventh in the 3,000-meter run, and Dittrich took sixth in the broad jump. State scored 11 points.

Next came the 10th Annual Central Intercollegiate meet. In competition with twenty-one other colleges and universities, State again proved herself versatile by taking sixth place with 17 points. Wright finished second in the 880 yards, Gardner came in third in the mile, Dittrich won second place in the broad jump, and the team finished fourth in the mile relay. Ottey finished second in the two-mile after a terrific race in which he missed first place by a scant foot.

With a score of 17, State made fourth place in the Western Michigan A.A.U. Meet. In the 100-meter dash, Mueller finished first in the heat and fourth in the final. However, he was eliminated in the 200-meter dash when he came in fourth in the heat. Hall was also eliminated in the 400-meter run when he finished fourth in the heat. Godfrey and McDurmon ran in the heats. Godfrey was fourth in the final. McDurmon was second in the heat and third in the final of the 200-meter low hurdles. Hills was third in the 400-meter hurdle. Hovey was sixth in the 800-meter run. In the long 5,000-meter run, Hammer won second place. State came out third in both the 88 and 1,600-meter relays. Fifth and sixth places were taken by Jenkens and Smith in the discuss throw. Jenkens and TenEyck placed fifth and sixth in the shot put. Dittrich was first in the broad jump, and Centrell was fifth in the javelin.

The 14th Annual National Collegiate Track and Field Meet was held at Berkeley, California. Wright was third in the heat and finished the 880 final in sixth place. With twenty-two starters in the one-mile, Gardner came in eighth. Ottey was second in the two-mile with fifteen starters. With a score of 9, Michigan State gained twentieth place in competition with seventy-five colleges.

Fourteen men represented State at Detroit in the Michigan A.A.U. Meet. Hill was first in the 400-meter hurdle. Hallin and Hovey finished fourth and fifth respectively in the 800-meter run. Mueller won fourth place in the 200-meter dash and third in the 100-meter. Running the 5,000-meter, Ottey and Boss finished first and second.

Lastly, the men competed in terrific heat at the National A.A.U. Championship Meet in Lincoln, Nebraska. Wright was fifth in the 800 meters, and fifth in the other 800-meter race. Gardner finished third in the 1,500-meters, but dropped out of the long 3,500-meter race.

1935 SEASON

FACED with a schedule even more formidable than any of previous years, and weakened by the loss of several star performers from other championship teams, the 1935 Varsity tennis squad finished the season with only a fair record. The final results in the won and lost column showed four matches won, five lost, and one tied.

At the start of early season practice the possibilities of Coach Ball being able to weld together even a fair team were very dim. Captain Willard Klunzinger was the only letter winner returning from the combination of Weitz, Norris, Link, Loose.

Stonebraker, Goodwin, and company, and the prospects from the previous year's freshmen included only Bob Rosa as sure Varsity material. However, before the season's first match with the University of Michigan, Coach Ball had found enough good men to carry the State colors onto the court with fairly good results.

With Captain Klunzinger easily taking his post at the number one spot at the first of the season, Soph Bob Rosa displayed brilliant tennis to displace both Don Sexton and Dick O'Dell, minor letter winners the year before, and take the number two position. Harold Scholtz, a numeral winner several years ago returned to school, and by the use of a steady head and a steadier forehand won his way to the number three position. Don Sexton, displaying a rare early season form, fought the most of the season to displace these three men but was always just a little behind. Dick O'Dell took his place just behind Sexton but had a bitter fight on his hands from Walt Eissler and Vinton Stealy, both of whom showed wonderful late season improvement.

Late season developments finally allowed Rosa to supplant Klunzinger at the number one post and Stealy to move ahead of Eissler. On the basis of this improvement Rosa won a close three-cornered race for the captaincy of the 1936 squad, beating out Klunzinger and Scholtz.

The prospects for the 1936 campaign look fairly bright. Besides the veterans from last year's squad, Klunzinger, Rosa, Scholtz, Eissler and Stealy, several promising frosh are sure to make their presence felt. Leading the frosh candidates will be Jack Cotton, Louis Stonebraker, and Gordon Rice.

The resume of the 1935 season shows that the University of Michigan handed the Spartans their first defeat of the season when they scored an 8 to 1 victory. The scheduled match with Kalamazoo College was cancelled because of rain, and then State lost to the University of Chicago by a 5 to 1 count.

The Spartans broke into the winning column for the first time against Albion College when they defeated the visitors 7 to 0, and then followed up their winning ways with a 9 to 1 win over Wayne University of Detroit, and a 5 to 3 win from the Notre Dame Ramblers.

The Wolverines knocked the Spartans from the winning column by repeating their former 8 to 1 victory, but the Green and White retaliated by whitewashing Michigan State Normal by a 9 to 0 count. The rest of the season was disastrous. Western State won from the Spartans 6 to 3, Toledo was tied 5 to 5, and the season ended by an 8 to 2 defeat by Ohio State.

In post-season competition both Klunzinger and Rosa were eliminated in the first round of the National Collegiate Tournament at Northwestern.

ONE of the big surprises in Spartan athletic circles, the hill and dalers wound up a very successful season, losing only one meet to Indiana, National A.A.U. champions.

Opening at Butler, the Spartans experienced some difficulty on the foreign course in winning 24-33, but returned to East Lansing to slam Notre Dame with a perfect score. Indiana provided the Statemen with their only defeat of the four seasons, but the Spartans more than compensated for the defeat handed them by the Hoosiers by sweeping through the Michigan State Intercollegiate I. C. 4-A., and Central Intercollegiate Meets. Led by Captain Eddie Bechtold who turned in a sensational performance to cop individual honors, Michigan State took the state meet with the low score of 17 to Michigan Normal's total of 47. State sprung a distinct surprise on stiff Eastern collegiate competition, the press, and their own coach, when Bechtold, repeating the feat of Ottey and Chamberlain, finished ahead of the pack of 140 starting runners, the cream of collegiate competition, to take individual honors in the I. C. 4-A. run, while teammates Waite, Gardner, Boss, Green, Sparks, and Wright, following him in third, sixth, eleventh, fifteenth and sixteenth places, rolled up the low score of 30 to Manhattan's 93. Slamming the Central Intercollegiate with a perfect score of 15, the Spartans put the finishing touch on a surprisingly successful season by winning the championship from four other schools. Notre Dame was second with a score of 67.

To Eddie Bechtold, Coach Brown gives much credit for the team's phenomenal success, characterizing Bechtold's surprising performances as the result of sheer determination.

LED by Captain Theodore Szymke, the Michigan State fencing team again completed a very successful season with a record of eight meets won and four lost. The 1936 schedule included not only the foremost Michigan colleges, but also the leading Big Ten teams.

Outstanding on the team was Captain Szymke who won not only individual scoring honors but also high recognition in the tournament held at Detroit by the State Amateur Fencing League Association. Szymke, in this tournament, was awarded the medal for first place in epee and placed second in the foil.

Captain Szymke was awarded a major letter at the end of the season while the following men received minor awards: P. Bombenek, D. Burchett, D. Appling, W. Ingleson, M. Coats, J. Long, and L. Hershey, Manager.

This year a new trophy was presented by John Osis of Lawrence Institute of Technology to be awarded to the winning team in Michigan Intercollegiate fencing competition. This trophy was won by Michigan State who remained undefeated in Michigan competition throughout the season.

Much credit for the success of State fencing teams in the last few years is due to Coach George T. Bauer, a veteran fencer himself and captain and a major letter winner of the 1931 varsity. Coach Bauer has increased the popularity of fencing and has done much to put it on an equal footing with the other minor sports at Michigan State.

BOOKING a tough schedule, the Spartan golf team, with three lettermen returning, Herrick, Nosal and Riordan, by defeating such strong teams as Wayne University twice, Grand Rapids Junior College, and tying a strong Michigan Normal team, completed a very successful season.

Opening the season with a comparatively weak start against the University of Michigan's national collegiate golf title holders on the tricky Lansing Country Club links, the Spartans found themselves in the second match of the year against a resourceful Wayne University team, taking the Detroit golfers 12½ to 5½. After splitting a pair of matches with Grand Rapids Junior College, the Spartans again dropped to the powerful University of Michigan aggregation and a strong Notre Dame outfit. Michigan Normal College provided the State golfers with a comeback victim, being soundly trounced by the Van Alstynemen 12-6. In the second match of the year with Wayne University, the Spartans again took the Detroit club into hand by a 11½ to 6½ score, and wound up a comparatively successful season by tying Michigan Normal College.

With three lettermen, Taylor, Henrickson, and Nosal, returning, and with Tom Brand, West Virginia amateur champ, Hank Zimmerman, former Flint municipal and amateur champ, and Hal Richardson, the Spartan golfers should be one of the most powerful Mid-West teams this spring.

WINNING five out of seven meets, breaking every Varsity record, and having more major letter winners than ever before, the Spartan swimming team enjoyed the most successful season it has ever had. Failing to connect in the David role against that of the Goliath of the University of Michigan, national title holders, the Spartans emerged from their initial meet on the short end of a 58-26 count. Sweeping through their next three opponents, Cincinnati, Wayne and Case University, by comfortable margins, the State swimmers were upset by Western Reserve's powerful outfit, 46-38, but the next two meets found the Spartans back in the winning column. For the second time in the season, they smothered a plucky Wayne University team, and sank Wisconsin 54-30. Winding up a very successful season, the Spartans placed first in the State Invitational meet with a total of 57½ points to Wayne's 22.

New Varsity records were set by Bill Bell, sophomore sensation, in the 50 and 100-yard free-stroke events, by Harryman in the 220 and 440, by Tom Morris in the 150 back stroke, by Black in the 100 and 200 breast stroke, by Ziegel, McNamara, Bissell and Bell in the 240 relay, and by Morris, Black and Bell in the 180 medley.

An all-time low in wrestling records was compiled by the wrestling team in its campaign of six meets. For the first time since Coach Collins took over the reins in 1928, the grapplers were defeated in every start of the schedule.

All was not lost, however. Captain Walter C. Jacob carried the brunt of the scoring power on his 155-pound frame and capped off his impressive form of the season by grappling through the National Collegiate Championships to emerge the champion.

His final year of wrestling shows that he won decision in dual competition between the University of Michigan twice, and Ohio State University. He took falls from opponents in the Indiana and the Washington and Lee meets. On into the National Collegiates, held in Lexington, Virginia, Captain Jacob defeated Seitz of Washington and Lee, drew a bye in the second round, threw Van Houten of Rutgers for a third round victory, and entered the semi-finals by disposing of Johnson of Minnesota with a fall in 2:35. Entering the finals by virtue of a forfeit by Iowa's Kieljorn, Jacob took the crown in the final bout, defeating Keas, Oklahoma's southwest champ, with a decisive judges' verdict. He is now qualified to enter the final Olympic tryouts at Lehigh University in April.

Letter winners in wrestling are: Captain Walter C. Jacob, major letter; minor letters: Joseph F. McDevitt, 165; Paul J. Murdock, 118; Wesley B. Orr, 165; Richard S. Bird, 155; and David W. Stonecliffe, 145.

MEMBERSHIP in W. A. A. is open to any girl who has acquired one hundred points in the organization and who has an average of C or better in her academic subjects. Once membership has been achieved, the girl must get at least twenty-five points each term to maintain her membership.

One of the group's major projects is the high school Basketball Play Day. Twenty teams of high school girls come here, play basketball, see the campus, and watch a demonstration game played by college girls. A Baseball and Tennis Play Day in the spring is organized on the same plan, but for surrounding colleges rather than high schools.

SOCIETIES are the purely social organizations of the college its fraternities and sororities. In the short write-up allotted each group we have tried to mention briefly the activities of prominent members. For those of you who have heard stories of Hell Week and for those who have endured it we offer snaps and comments. Most of the boys seem to be having fun and only the photographer was weary of the long grind. Homecoming decorations were quite a success in spite of the rain and the game. We only wonder how many houses next year will use the idea of a Ship of State.

ALPHA EPSILON PI, a comparatively new National organization on the campus, has become still more firmly established this year. A nice group of pledges was secured to further strengthen the fraternity in years to come, and the members participated actively in extra-curricular activities. Shapiro is a member of the Camera Club and Felberg plays in the band, while David Portnoff, a State News reporter, became known as founder of the Pre-Law Club, a welcome addition to the list of college organizations. Athletic aspirants number David Goldsmith of the Varsity Baseball team, and Merdler and Nitzburg members of the Freshman track squad.

THIS year has been another successful one for Alpha Gamma Rho; the membership has increased, and the members have participated actively in college organizations and events. One cause for pride is the fact that they have again won the Interfraternity Scholarship award. Uckele and Dee Weaver, president and vice-president respectively of the House, are both varsity track performers, and the fraternity treasurer, Ray Klackle, is president of the Hort Club and the Bee-Keepers Seminar. Taylor is another doubly-honored man, having to his credit the presidencies of both Block and Bridle and the Ag Council. Dexter is president of the Dairy Club.

MUSICAL activities have attracted many members of Delphic fraternity with Forrest Allen, "Doc" Morrish, and Ed McAllister in the military band, and Carl Benton and John Baxter as members of the Men's Glee Club. Allen also served as chairman of the ticket sales for the Band Club formal, while Baxter holds a membership in Alpha Epsilon Mu.

Delphic members held the executive reins of Alphi Psi with Carl Benton, Norman Claus, and Karl Sutton holding the offices of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Dick Grey made Scabbard and Blade, and Grey, Bud Branch, John Baxter, and Samuel Fisher are in the Officers Club.

A FAST pace has been set in extra-curricular activities this year by Delta Chi, the national version of one of the older campus societies. The honor of being chosen by Blue Key has fallen to Clark, Booth, Distel, and Wilson, while Art Hinz is treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Journalist Larry Distel is acting in the capacity of assistant editor of the State News, with Lindenthal serving on the staff. Military honors have been bestowed on Clark and Britton, both of whom are members of Scabbard and Blade, and Joe Buzolitz, Varsity Club man, is one of the most outstanding of our gridiron stalwarts.

FARM HOUSE, at present planning its induction into the National Farm House fraternity, was organized in the Spring of 1932, primarily for students of agriculture, forestry, and veterinary medicine. Since its organization, the house has been noted for its scholastic achievements, leading all other social organizations for the last two years. In other lines of endeavor, outstanding Farm House men are Wallis, master of the Student Grange and second place winner in a National Judging contest, Russell, a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Holmberg of Xi Sigma Xi, and Walter Jacob, captain of the varsity wrestling team, who is a prominent Olympic team candidate.

Since moving into their present home in 1919, the Hermians have exercised a marked influence on the campus. Athletic members include Dick Edwards, varsity football flash, Wilbur Moehring, varsity swimmer, Max Henkel and Phil Linebaugh of the baseball squad, and Bill Grier, frosh wrestler. Among the other notables are Frederickson of Sigma Alpha Beta, and Jack Warner, much feared columnist on the State News staff, and a member of the Student Council, Press Club, and Blue Key. Harvey Harrington is also a member of the News staff.

THIS year finds the Hesperians dominating many of the activities at State. The athletically inclined members include Schrader, varsity footballer, Bell, record-breaking swimmer, Rosa as captain and Stealy as a player on the tennis varsity, and Dahlberg, a baseball regular. To maintain the military tradition, Lawrence serves as Lieutenant-Colonel and Kirkpatrick as Major in the Cadet Corps, while DeKuiper is captain of Scabbard and Blade. Newspaper work is the forte of Hutchinson, who is business manager, and Kirkpatrick, who is associate editor of the State News. Bill Klum acts as president of Sigma Epsilon, while Rosa and O'Hara, the latter a prominent debater, are Blue Key men.

THE PHYLEAN LITERARY SOCIETY was organized in 1911 and, with the exception of a few years during the World War, has been in continuous existence since that time. Their present home was first occupied by the Phyleans in 1915. The house has a very diversified athletic representation. George Hill is an outstanding baseball pitcher, Appling is a varsity fencer, and Teske wrestles with the varsity, while John DeLong is a bright prospect on the frosh wrestling and baseball squads. Charles Guzak is a varsity cheer leader. Other activities include Blue Key, of which Decker is a member, and the Camera Club of which Appling is one of the founders.

COMPLETELY recovered from the effects of a disastrous fire which nearly destroyed their home, Pi Kappa Phi is rapidly gaining in strength. This year, campus activities have claimed most of the members, and many honors have been won. Two keen-eyed members, Sprague and Lander, are experts on the Rifle Team, while Sprague, Sterling, and Schell belong to the Officers Club. Wortman serves as treasurer of Beta Alpha Sigma, honorary art and landscape fraternity, Hurrle is vice-president of the college Y.M.C.A., and K. Jepson is junior football manager. Moshier competes on the fencing team, while Jerry Byrd writes for State News.

Since that time the sorority has maintained a very high scholastic standing among the societies on the campus. Among those who stand highest are Bernita Taylor, who won the Mortar Board Scholarship cup, and Marian Erwin, who is a member of Omicron Nu. Marian is also treasurer of the Michigan State Grange. Other members of the sorority in outside activities include Mary Ellen Taylor, secretary of A.W.S., and Virginia Gann, secretary of Orchesis. Some of the other girls have been active in Y.W.C.A., M.S.C. Grange, and W.A.A.

AN unique situation exists in Kappa Delta inasmuch as all the girls are Y. W.C.A. members. Their activity extends further, however, with Lucille Rovick receiving the Cavalry sponsorship, and being made secretary-treasurer of Panhellenic, and a member of Green Splash and W.A.A.; Gertrude Warner working in the Religious Council, Peace Club, and W.A.A.; and Matilda Adair being a member of Tower Guard, Tau Sigma, and Green Splash. Jean Brooks and Betty Sherratt are members of S.W.L. and W.A.A., while Bernice Proctor is active in S.C.U., W.A.A., and Green Splash, Marion Cobb is secretary of Zolog, and Lois Dorman and Betty Heald belong to S.C.U.

WHO'S Who in American Colleges" recognized one of State's Kappas this year when that publication listed Helen Anthony of M.S.C. Helen is also president of A. W.S. and a member of Mortar Board. Another prominent Kappa is Margaret Bryant who, in addition to belonging to Y.W.C.A. and the Wolverine staff, is Honorary Colonel of the R.O.T.C. Green Splash members include Barbara Tanter, also in Tower Guard, and Louise Lentz, who holds the position of vice-president of the Junior Class. Lorraine Salot, a former Corps Sponsor, belongs to Theta Alpha Phi, while Betty Lentz is Head Freshman Councilor and an A.W.S. member.

FOR the sixth consecutive year Sigma Kappa has won the Panhellenic scholarship cup, and, at the same time, has participated widely in campus activities. Among the members this year Marian Andros and Dorothy Langdon are the most prominent. Marian is a member of Mortar Board, co-chairman of the Freshman Councilor system, president of Orchesis and vice-president of both Beta Alpha Sigma and A.W.S., while Dorothy is also a member of Mortar Board and co-chairman of the Freshman Councilors, and in addition is co-ed editor of the State News. Other prominent members include Gwendolyn Miller and Louise Langdon, presidents respectively of Mu Phi Epsilon and Tower Guard.

THE local chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha was established five years ago when Sesame, twenty-three year old local society, was inducted into the national organization. The sorority has seventy-two chapters scattered over the United States and Canada. Dorothy Baldwin, Margaret Hotchin, and Frances Scullin belong to S.W.L., practically all the girls hold Y.W.C.A. memberships, and many belong to the Home Economics Club. Janet Smalldon and Harriet Jones are members of the Camera Club, while Dorothy Baldwin is active in both Green Splash and the Press Club News Service. Maryan Ashley and Frances Scullin are debaters, Frances being secretary of Pi Kappa Delta.

THE last section we have called Satire, and perhaps the most satirical thing is that in it we have tucked away an advertising section. It fills up the chinks around Jack Warner's last journalistic stand —at least that's what we had to tell Jack. And now with your permission we will indulge in just a few acknowledgments. To the entire staff for its fine co-operation, to G. G. Granger who made all the scenes and the major portion of the athletic shots, to the many others who have given their services, we say sincerest thanks. And so we give you the advertising section, and Jack Warner.

SOUR NOTES

I AM free. I am free from the omnipresent shadow of Cleary's blue pencil and the censorship of the press. I shall write as I please. By the time this appears I shall have left behind me this boll weevil in the field of journalism and the howling mob whose actions have rated publicity in the columns of the State News. They shall have to vent their ire upon my successors.

During the year there have been many columns written, my own filthy pillar among them. I have sought to distinguish the filthy from the filthier, and at the same time remain in one piece. I have made a lot of enemies by telling the truth about their scandalous carrying-ons, and have proved to myself that a lot of people can't take a little panning.

It is a source of satisfaction to our statistical selves (say that last one fast) to look back through the issues of the State News and find out how many pins are on their original recipients. When you guys did the deed we gave you a good panning by way of a send off . . . or perhaps because of a little jealousy because we weren't doing the same thing ourselves.

First, there's Bob Martin who has been going with Helen Wilson it seems since her first inarticulate "Goo." Then Bob Stoll and June Svoboda. There's one that had us. Our forecast was all wrong . . . they're still at it. One not so fortunate was Phil Linebaugh, whose engagement to Marge Kidder was practically a tradition. And of course Gracie Newins, still exhibiting Herrick's Sigma Nu pin . . . and more luck to 'em. Marguerite Paine and Dave Cleary hardly need to be mentioned. They're at the five-dollars-for-food, ten-dollars-for-rent stage. And Bill Moehring and Jean Watt, settling down to the A.G.D. home and fireside after a campaign including too many names for the space allotted. Louise Doherty and Hank Johnson decided on a split, with Louise still in possession of the Johnson jewelry for some mysterious reason . . . to say nothing of a Sigma Nu pin belonging to Jim Lewis, and rumors of another belonging to a Delta Sig! And on to Yvonne Wood and Guy De Kuiper, Bill Kirkpatrick and Zerepha Blunk, Neil

Identified by that characteristic and pungent stench, more noticeable than ever before, elections this year were conducted in the typical Tammany style when intrigue, mud-slinging, and back-biting awakened the entire campus to the fact that Harry Wismer, the Forgotten Man of the Board of Publications, was running for the position of State News editor. All this after the semi-dormant Student Council voted to accept his petition. The Board had previously decided to name only one man for the position instead of the usual two, but Wismer came through with his position, and if the strong arm is the signet of triumph he intended to get the office. But something went wrong. That flighty object of a politician's interest, the voting masses, turned against him at the critical moment . . . and downed him by a 2 to 1 score. The fickle public! That and the fact that about ten or twelve fraternities banded together and secretly elected just about every man that got into that office. Larry Distel, champion of the bloc, acquired the office and Dotty Langdon at the same time. Dave Christian, local no-good, was chosen to succeed Ira Murray, he of the dead pan, as stable man for the Wolverine. Independent men, that scourge of the fraternity blocs, put up a real showing with their head man, Lee Henrickson, being elected to Student Council. Funny, isn't it . . . every

"Smartest Buy I ever made!"

IT is easy to understand why the 1936 Oldsmobile is so enthusiastically talked about by owners everywhere... Its freshly streamlined beauty—distinctively styled by Oldsmobile—makes an instant appeal to the eye... Its impressive size and roominess immediately invite the most comfortable, restful travel... Its smoother, livelier power assures most responsive and dependable performance ... Combined with Oldsmobile's engineering and structural quality is every fine-car feature for greater safety, ease of handling, and long, economical life ... At its new low price, Oldsmobile occupies a value class by itself ... No wonder the owner of an Oldsmobile Six or Eight tells all his friends —"It's the smartest buy I ever made!"

The winter formal season was by far the best in any year, both from the standpoint of bands and preparation. Blue Key pulled the biggest scoop of the year when they brought Jimmy Lunceford into town for their party. Lunceford had played the previous week-end for the Michigan J-Hop, giving Cleary an opening for his battle of wits with the Michigan Daily. Showing a wisdom far beyond their years, the Sophs signed Art Kassel to play for the prom, and thereby clinched a top place in the race for party popularity. Ron Garlock and his Junior class henchmen finally secured Freddy Martin for the J-Hop, after much of the same old haggling that goes on in Wilkins' office at the signing of a band. Scalping of tickets went on as it always has and always will. Even Garlock and MacGrain were accused of holding out for their cut of the scalping . . . a decided untruth as neither of these gentlemen has the forethought for such an advantageous venture. Then there was the Engineers' Ball, featuring Archie Bleyer . . . an unknown band, but one that came through with the works. The same was true of Tal Henry at the Senior Ball. And there were a lot more, too numerous to mention. All in all, it was the ace in a pack of formal seasons.
